Three Lincoln young people who spend no small part of their time in the world of music are knee-deep in appearances these days generating interest in the Lincoln Youth Symphony.

The three are Stephanie and Julian French and Steve Henderson, members of a string trio which has played for a host of local civic groups during the past weeks.

"We need a lot of good community support," said Juliann who as the youngest of the three has been assigned speaking chores for their appearances.

After the strains of Bach, Brahms and Dvorak have provided musical entertainment, Julian explains youth symphony plans to attend an international music festival in Vienna, Prague and Budapest this summer.

Soviets Would Back Expulsion Of Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union said Friday it would support the expulsion of Israel from the United Nations in punishment for its swift and deadly commando strike into Lebanon.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik denounced Israel's raid Tuesday against Lebanon as a Hitlerite operation "unmatched in the annals of Israeli aggressions."

Malik made the charge on the second day of a U.N. Security Council meeting called to debate the raid at Beirut and Sidon.

Malik said the strike in Beirut that killed three Arab guerrilla leaders and others was carried out "in the style of thieves, using the same methods once used by the Hitlerite cutthroats, the SS men."

He said Israel is determined "to elevate terrorism to a state policy."

Malik said the Soviet Union would support U.N. action against Israel up to and including expulsion from the 132-member world organization.

It remained to be seen, however, whether any resolution actually calling for expulsion would come before the council.

Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoh, referring to the Tuesday raid, declared that the least Israel can do is to strike back at Symphony Director Gene Stoll said this week that if Lincoln participation in the Vienna festival were jeopardized, another musical and educational experience for the youngsters would be provided.

The fund-raising campaign has been a combination of efforts of both parents and the 85 or so youngsters who will take the trip.

For the trio of the French sisters and Henderson, the work of fund-raising has been a extension of what they've enjoyed doing before.

"I've never played before in an ensemble group," said Juliann. "It's great getting the experience."

"You can polish to your own ideals," said Steve. "You can work together till you're satisfied."

Adult Book Operator Loses Case In Court

Many of the items for sale at the Adult Book and Cinema Shops, operated by Jerry Mabie, Friday were declared "obscene, lewd, indecent and lascivious" by Lancaster District Judge Dale Fahrnbach.

In his ruling in a case brought by Lancaster County against Mabie, doing business as the Adult Book and Cinema Shops, Judge Fahrnbach permanently enjoined the defendant from possession of or engaging in the sale, distribution or acquisition of specific items enumerated in the ruling including primarily magazines, books, records and tapes.

Judge Fahrnbach held that the dominant theme of the items taken as a whole "appeals to the prurient interest" of the average person and are "without redeeming social value."

In a stipulation between the parties the court approved the

Infiltration Charged

North Viets Going South . . . Canadians Say

SAIGON (AP) — Canada's peacekeeping delegation charged Friday, for the first time, that North Vietnam is violating the Paris peace agreement by sending fresh troops into South Vietnam.

It backed up similar allegations by the United States.

Ambassador Michel Gauvin, head of the Canadian delegation to the International Commission of Control and Supervision, also accused the Hungarian and Polish delegations at a meeting of blocking an investigation of charges that the North Vietnamese had installed missile installations in the northwestern quadrant of South Vietnam.

Gauvin told the four-nation peacekeeping commission that it may have been North Vietnamese troops who shot down an ICCS helicopter a week ago and suggested that the aircraft may have been downed by a long-range surface-to-air missile. Nine persons were killed, including a Canadian, an Indonesian and two Hungarian members of the ICCS, two Viet Cong liaison officers, and a three-man crew of two Americans and a Filipino.

"Our duty to them," Gauvin said, "is to establish the true facts surrounding the incident which took the lives of our colleagues, to establish the truth as why they died and to find out who was responsible for their deaths. Insofar as I am concerned and insofar as the Canadian delegation is also concerned, we shall not rest until we have answered these questions. Our energy and resources will be devoted to answering these questions."

Gauvin did not mention North Vietnam by name, but officials said it was obvious that he was referring to North Vietnamese troops when he declared: "We have strong reason to believe that in other parts of South Vietnam, as well as in the area where the helicopter incident took place, non-South Vietnamese troops are stationed, or are infiltrating, South Vietnam for the purpose of supporting militarily one of the two parties in South Vietnam."

"When we came here as members of the ICCS, we had, and still have, every right to expect that the differences which exist between the two parties in South Vietnam will be resolved through peaceful means and through the process of free and democratic elections," Gauvin said.

"We did not come here to see this commission being turned into a cover-up for the aggressive designs of one party over the other. The self-determination of the people of South Vietnam is guaranteed by the agreement and it is evident that the self-determination of South Vietnam cannot be expressed if outsiders take sides in support of one South Vietnamese party against the other."

Papillion Plans To Become First With 12-Month School

By BOB GUENTHER

Star Staff Writer

The Papillion school district Friday announced tentative plans to become the first school district in the state to switch to a 12-month school year beginning in the fall of 1974.

Supt. Paul Basler told the State Board of Education that the issue will go before Papillion voters in May 1974 and if approved will begin operation on Aug. 1, 1974.

Such a change was made possible by LB65 passed last month by the Legislature and signed into law by Gov. J. James Exon. The law permits schools to switch from the traditional 9-month school term to a 12-month operation. The law, however, would not force any student to enroll for the full 12-month session.

He acknowledged that the shift would increase costs, since more would have to be spent on teachers salaries, material and maintenance. An additional $100,000 will have to be spent to air condition the schools for the summer months, he stated.

More Expensive

But he said whether the switch is made or not "It's going to cost more to operate the schools without a doubt."

The main advantage of the 12-month school year, Basler said, is that children will receive a better education.

"During these three-month vacations a lot of learning is lost," Basler said. "The 12-month school year's shorter breaks vary the routine without a loss in learning."

Basler predicted that within the next ten years the 12-month school year will be "universally accepted."

Papillion's present plans, which have been developed over the past two years, would allow students to choose 12 of 16 periods lasting 15 days each to attend school.

180-Day Minimum

Each student would thus attend class for a minimum of 180 days scheduled throughout the year as desired.

Still, he said there has been much "misinformation" spread about the school district forcing students to attend class the full year.

Glen Shafer, an Education Department official, agreed that if any school district in the state is in need of a 12-month school year to ease crowded classrooms it is Papillion.

As yet, Shafer said, there are no firm plans for any other school district to shift to the 12-month school calendar.

British Raid Irish Homes

LONDON (AP) — Police and intelligence men swooped on 111 Irish homes across Britain on Friday in a crackdown against suspected guerrilla bombers of the Irish Republican Army.

At least 14 men were held for questioning and police said total arrests might reach 40. Officers seized arms, explosives and detonating equipment, though apparently not in large quantities.

A Roman Catholic priest was among four men held in Coventry in the English Midlands. Lawyers named him as Father Patrick Fell and said they had been refused access to him.

Six men were held in London, mainly in the northern suburb of Kilburn, a known headquarters of the IRA. Others were held in Liverpool, Birmingham and Manchester.

Similar pre-dawn raids were mounted in

Mayor Says Seale Top Contender
...Panther Expected To Force Runoff

Oakland, Calif. (AP) — Republican Mayor John Reading says Black Panther Party chairman Bobby Seale is the leading contender against him as he seeks re-election in next Tuesday's city elections.

Bobby Seale

Seale who was helping organize the Panthers when Reading first took office in 1968 is expected to attract enough votes to force a runoff with the white incumbent.

"The man who usually gets elected as Oakland mayor does so on the basis of the low turnout of black voters," Seale said in an interview.

They are Reading, Seale a white city councilman, John Sutter, and a black businessman, Otho J. Green. Seale, Sutter and Green are registered Democrats.

As of now, Bobby Seale is the leading contender. Reading, 55, a Republican said in an interview.

The Panthers have worked hard to register more blacks and have organized transportation to the polls.

The city's 400,000 population measured in the 1970 census included 34.5 per cent blacks and 9.8 per cent Mexican-Americans.

Seale's campaign manager, Herman Smith, estimates that 55,000 of 175,000 registered voters are black, 20,000 Mexican-Americans and 100,000 other whites.

A field of eight candidates for mayor includes four rated as serious contenders for the non-partisan job.

They are Reading, Seale a white city councilman, John Sutter, and a black businessman, Otho J. Green. Seale, Sutter and Green are registered Democrats.

As of now, Bobby Seale is the leading contender. Reading, 55, a Republican said in an interview.

At a recent forum of the four candidates the mayor described Seale as a worthy opponent who has run an admirable campaign—conducted his campaign with dignity and earned my respect."

The likely outcome of Tuesday's vote is that neither Reading nor a challenger will win the required majority of the total vote. The contest then would go to a May 15 runoff between the two top candidates.

Seale and the Panthers have conducted an old-fashioned campaign.

"The people see me as one who wants to end their exploitation," Seale said. "That's the real beyond-the-surface image. That's the one that really counts."

Reading said he is basing his campaign on a record of attracting new business and new jobs to Oakland.

Oakland across the bay from San Francisco voted overwhelming against Richard M. Nixon last November.

Tax Refunds Impact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxpayers are getting a record amount in federal income tax refunds this year, but the Nixon administration believes that most of the extra cash will either be saved or used to pay off debt.

By the time the Internal Revenue Service has processed all of the roughly 77 million tax returns, refunds are expected to total $22 billion, $8 billion more than a year ago and the highest on record.

At the halfway point with more than 38 million returns processed on April 4, the IRS said 31.8 million taxpayers had received refunds totaling $10.9 billion. At the same time a year ago, refunds totaled about $8.4 billion.

The average refund through April 4 was $345.47 compared with $251.34 a year earlier at roughly the same time.

The Treasury Department's chief economist, Assistant

Said To Be Slight

Secretary Edgar Friedler said unusually large refunds will not give the economy too much stimulation.

We expect some of it will be spent but more will be saved," Friedler said. "It will not be enough of an impact to set off an inflationary bubble."

Refunds are heavier this year because Congress changed the withholding tables to try to make the amount of tax due more closely match the amount withheld from paychecks. But in a large number of cases, the action resulted in too much being withheld.

Taxpayers could have corrected overwithholding a year ago by taking special new withholding exemptions but this required filling out special forms with their employers.

According to the IRS, many people like the idea of the "April Savings Club" even though their money doesn't draw interest.

The administration believes that many taxpayers knowing that their refunds would be sizable have already spent the money by buying a car or refrigerator on credit in anticipation of the large government check.

But there have always been some government surveys showing that just the opposite is true that many taxpayers didn't expect a sizable refund this year.

Fielder said the administration still believes that "the biggest part will be saved or used to pay off debt" even if the refund comes as a surprise.

In response to the magazine survey, a Pentagon spokesman noted that Defense Secretary Elliot L. Richardson has issued new guidelines designed to reduce the number of physical disability retirements.

Richardson has said that regardless of medical opinions by a disability board, if an officer or enlisted man is doing his job he will be considered fit for duty.

The convention was signed in Washington on March 3, and is a major step to halt the rapid depletion of wildlife. Nixon said in forwarding the document to Capitol Hill with a request it be promptly ratified.

In contrast, the magazine found that lower ranking doctors in all the services receive lower disability ratings when they retire than non-medical officers.

Navy doctors, whether high or low ranking when they retire, get about the same break as all other military officers, the journal found.

Disability ratings (figured in percentages) are supposed to be indicators of how sick or injured a man is when he retires. The percentage determines the amount of his retired pay that is tax-free.

A military officer can seek disability ratings as a method of retiring early or after completing a military career of 20 years or more.

The Armed Forces Journal

found 68 per cent of Army generals and 65 per cent of Air Force generals who are doctors were retired on disability. The figure for Navy admiral-doctors is 25 per cent.

Only 31 per cent of all retiring grade officers in all the services get disability standing.

The statistics indicate that retiring Army and Air Force medical men in higher ranks are

Nixon Proposes International Wildlife Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon Friday sent to the Senate for ratification a treaty establishing international controls on the trading of wild fauna and flora in danger of becoming extinct.

The convention was signed in Washington on March 3, and is a major step to halt the rapid depletion of wildlife. Nixon said in forwarding the document to Capitol Hill with a request it be promptly ratified.

FCC Seeks Obscenity Court Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Oak Park, Ill., radio station was fined $2,000 by the Federal Communications Commission Friday in the agency's first crackdown on sex-oriented broadcasts.

The FCC invited a court test of its ruling.

Station WGLD-FM was fined for a program called "Femme Forum" in which the announcer takes listener calls and discusses sexual subjects. The station is owned by Sonderling Broadcasting Corp.

The FCC specified two programs in its action. The agency said a Feb. 21 program dealt with the topic of "How do you keep your sex life alive" and drew calls suggesting oral sex.

Two days later, said the agency, another program dealt with the same subject.

Commissioner Nicholas Johnson cast the only dissenting vote in the 5-1 decision.

Johnson contended the majority was engaging in a form of censorship by penalizing a station because of the content of one of its programs.

He said this was "arbitrary, unwise and unconstitutional."

The majority said the commission recognized that "we are not the final arbiters in this sensitive field and therefore we welcome and urge judicial consideration."

But there have always been some government surveys showing that just the opposite is true that many taxpayers didn't expect a sizable refund this year.

Water Pollution Timetable Sets Hot Pace Of Cleanup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal, state and local governments will have to run hard to keep pace with the Environmental Protection Agency's nationwide timetable for ending water pollution.

recently issued policy statement by EPA spells out for the first time a step-by-step schedule for achieving the clean-water goals of the 1972 Water Pollution Control Act.

Although tentative and incomplete, EPA's schedule already reflects the Baroque complexity of the 98-page law itself.

Basically, the law seeks to make the nation's waterways fit to swim in by 1983 and sets a formidable 1985 goal of eliminating all polluting discharges.

State and local governments are expected to do most of the work, with the EPA looking over their shoulder with authority to step in where necessary.

Since natural water is never really "pure" the first task is to decide what "clean water"

means and the states have already begun establishing clean-water standards which must now be completed and,

perhaps, updated.

Those standards are to be achieved primarily by treating and controlling waste discharges

as directed by "effluent

Tax Refunds Impact

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxpayers are getting a record amount in federal income tax refunds this year, but the Nixon administration believes that most of the extra cash will either be saved or used to pay off debt.

By the time the Internal Revenue Service has processed all of the roughly 77 million tax returns, refunds are expected to total $22 billion, $8 billion more than a year ago and the highest on record.

Most Ranking Military Doctors Are Retiring On Disability Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army and Air Force doctors who are generals get higher disability ratings, and thus bigger tax breaks, when they retire than almost any other group in the armed services, according to a study by the Armed Forces Journal.

In contrast, the magazine found that lower ranking doctors in all the services receive lower disability ratings when they retire than non-medical officers.

Navy doctors, whether high or low-ranking when they retire, get about the same break as all other military officers, the journal found.

Disability ratings (figured in percentages) are supposed to be indicators of how sick or injured a man is when he retires. The percentage determines the amount of his retired pay that is tax free.

A military officer can seek disability ratings as a method of retiring early or after completing a military career of 20 years or more.

The Armed Forces Journal

found 68 per cent of Army generals and 65 per cent of Air Force generals who are doctors were retired on disability. The figure for Navy admirals/doctors is 25 per cent.

Only 31 per cent of all retiring general grade officers in all the services get disability standing.

The statistics indicate that retiring Army and Air Force medical men in higher ranks are

County Court System Faring Well—Dunlevey

By DON BEMAN
United Press International

The wheels of justice in Nebraska's now three-month-old county court system appear to be wearing well. State Court Administrator James Dunlevey said Friday.

There have been a few problems, Dunlevey conceded, "but none that I would count as major."

The idea of consolidating Nebraska's 93 separate county courts into a 21-district system served by 43 judges came into official legislative being in the 1969 session, when a constitutional amendment was placed on the 1970 ballot for a voter decision.

Passed In '72
The amendment, which was approved, paved the way constitutionally for the County Court Reform Act passed in 1972.

Commission OKs $2,400 For Shade Tree Booklet

By The Associated Press
The Nebraska American Revolution Bicentennial Commission Friday approved the use of $2,400 in commission funds to help print a booklet to give Nebraskans pointers on planting shade trees.

The commission was set up by the Legislature to develop suitable programs to observe the nation's 200th birthday in 1976.

The total cost of the shade tree project is about $5,000, with the rest of the funds to come from the University of Nebraska Extension Service.

The proposal was outlined by Neal Jennings, an extension service forester.

According to Jennings, the booklet would contain information on what types of shade trees to plant and how they should be nurtured.

Jennings noted Nebraska's long-time nickname as "The Tree Planter State" and the fact that Arbor Day originated in Nebraska as reasons why the program would be appropriate for commission funding.

A number of ideas given to the commission Friday were held for later consideration.

Dunlevey, who had a direct hand in drafting the reform act, said he fully expected a number of problems, at least some of which would roadblock the court system in some way.

"We certainly haven't reached perfection, by any means," he said. "We are finding more areas all the time where we could be more efficient."

However, he said, one of the areas in which the streamlining effect has been shown is in the handling of traffic cases, a major portion of the county court case load.

Definite Improvements
"There's no question that we've made definite improvements in the handling of traffic cases and the reporting of them to the State Motor Vehicles Department as well," Dunlevey said.

Streamline System
One of the major objectives of the reform act was to streamline the justice system at the county level.

That goal is being accomplished, Dunlevey said, but more remains to be done.

The district courts, he said, are handling the procedural matter by means of their own rules.

At some point, Dunlevey said, the law will probably have to be amended after the system has been tested a while longer so that uniform appeal procedures are being used across the state.

When the courts first opened their doors for business, there was also a problem of not having the necessary recording equipment so transcripts for appeals would be available.

That has now been solved,

Dunlevey said, and all courts have equipment. Four counties, however, are still operating on temporary equipment and are awaiting arrival of the equipment promised when bids were accepted.

The Court Reform Act did not carry through completely on spelling out appeal procedures, the administrator said. But he added that has not posed a stoppage.

Education Board Suspends Coach For Quitting Job

The State Board of Education Friday suspended a former Hastings basketball coach's teaching certificate for a period of one year due to a breach of contract.

Darryl Dettleison, a ninth grade basketball coach and science teacher in Hastings for the past two years, left his position with the school district in the middle of the present school year to accept a job with a private management firm.

Dettleison said he was discouraged after a varsity basketball coaching position was awarded to someone else and resigned when the Hastings firm made him an offer.

The board, however, said they felt that to let Dettleison out of his contract would create "havoc" among school administrators and voted to suspend his teaching certificate on a 5-1 vote.

Dunlevey, who had a direct hand in drafting the reform act, said he fully expected a number of problems, at least some of which would roadblock the court system in some way.

"I wasn't sure what they would be, but any change this big, I thought, was bound to bring them up," he said. "But so far the problems have been ones of detail rather than the overall system itself."

In other words, he said, "we haven't had to go running to the Legislature for an immediate solution."

One of the major objectives of the reform act was to streamline the justice system at the county level.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Maybe they know something about Lincoln that none of us knows, said one individual as he commented upon the sudden surge of interest in major shopping centers in the city. Maybe he is right. Maybe Lincoln is not quite what we thought it was or maybe it shows signs of a drastic change in the near future.

Is it different now than we think, in terms of enough spendable income to support another and perhaps several new and major shopping centers? Or, is the handwriting on the wall, spelling out a growth pattern in the immediate future that will support a lot more retail business activity?

We confess to not knowing the answer to either question. Thus, we become a little perplexed at the state of affairs as they unfold through the proposed land use process in the city.

Announced this week was a proposal for a shopping center at 27th and Old Cheney Road to contain considerably more floor space than is found in either Gateway or downtown. Announced prior to that were plans for a major shopping center at 56th and Old Cheney Road, about the size of Gateway.

And mentioned are the thoughts of a Des Moines group interested in development of a major shopping center at 84th and O.

Are they all going after the same retail spending dollar or do they think there is enough to go around for each of them? Then, there is the question of which, if any, of these proposals constitutes a proper land use within the framework of the city's comprehensive plan.

Just offhand, 56th and Old Cheney Road would seem to be the best proposal from the point of view of good zoning and land use, since it would seem to interfere less than the others with existing development patterns. That, however, is something the City Council is going to have to determine.

Among other things, these three shopping centers add interest to the upcoming city election. All three matters could end up being settled by the newly elected City Council.

Among the top three finishers in the primary election were two more or less hard-line zoning advocates and one middle-of-the-roader or soft-liner. Mrs. Sue Bailey and John Robinson would approve fewer changes in zoning to business uses than would Emmett Junge.

If Bailey and Robinson were elected, there could well be a majority of hard-liners on the council, including present members Mrs. Helen Boosalis and Steven Cook. To our memory, there has never been a majority of this kind on the City Council in the past.

We would urge caution, however, in use of such labels as hard or soft-line. They indicate a leaning but do not tell us how any individual might vote on any specific proposal. They are general, not specific terms.

And we continue to wonder if Lincoln is exercising too much or too little control over land development. Again, not in specific cases but as a general and overall rule.

Are we containing the city so tightly that we are inflating the value and thus the demand for such major business developments as are now on the drawing boards? Have we really opted, without a conscious decision to do so, for the "no growth" concept expounded by environmentalists and others of similar thinking?

Or, is such development pressure simply an unavoidable consequence of a thoughtful and proper comprehensive plan? Is it a sign we are right or wrong? The City Council ought to look at such questions in considering the merits of all individual proposals.

Disaster Areas Draw Same Old Inhabitants

WASHINGTON — Natural disasters, even catastrophic ones, are far from uncommon. Hardly a month goes by without a statement from the White House declaring a major disaster in one state or another. Thus, a storm, flood or earthquake must wreak truly extraordinary havoc to attract sustained nationwide attention.

Hurricane Camille, which devastated the Mississippi Gulf Coast and caused extensive flooding in Virginia in 1969, rated such attention. So did Hurricane Agnes, the June, 1972, storm that the National Weather Service called the worst disaster in American history.

Now, less than a year after Agnes did her damage, the Mississippi River has spilled over its banks and levees and inundated more than seven million acres of land downstream from the Missouri. While the total amount of damage has yet to be calculated, the flooding already is described as the worst on the Mississippi in more than a century.

Fortunately, a wide range of assistance is available under the federal Disaster Relief Act of 1970. 'We're All In The Same Boat'

OEO Status Unclear

The ruling of U.S. District Judge William B. Jones earlier in the week doesn't mean that Lyndon Johnson's Great Society programs are back in business. President Nixon's lawyers are now figuring out ways to get around the court order, even if it isn't appealed, so that the administration can continue dismantling the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).

Judge Jones in Washington enjoined Acting OEO Director Howard Phillips from further actions phasing out the Great Society anti-poverty agency. He said all Phillips' orders, including one to end all federal support for community action agencies, are illegal.

The ruling is supposed to be significant to the contest between the Congress and the Nixon administration over the impoundment of funds by the executive and the administration's cutback on social welfare programs. Jones said the administration can't unilaterally terminate programs established and funded by Congress. Only Congress, which giveth, can taketh away, the judge said.

But the dismantling of OEO—the transfer of some programs and the termination of others and the closing down of regional offices—has proceeded at a rapid pace up to this point. If Congress believes the agency has worth, it will have to act with equal speed.

The new status of the agency seems unclear. The most recent authorizing legislation directs that OEO be continued into 1975. But some programs were only funded until the end of 1973. Is new legislation necessary in the wake of OEO's new status?

Congress better find out in a hurry whether it still wants to fight the poverty war with the old weapon and whether it still wants to federally fund the community action agencies. Although he may be overruled, Judge Jones has given the latest round in the impoundment fight to Congress, which had better be on its toes. If Judge Jones isn't overruled, he and the Congress may be outmaneuvered. President Nixon's recent record against Congress so far as major fights are concerned has been pretty good.

'Budget Battle' Overrated

"The Battle of the Budget" has begun, Gov. Exon said in Omaha this week, warning that legislative additions to his fiscal document more likely than not will meet with a veto and assuring that where the lawmakers have made cuts, they "don't make any sense whatsoever."

It was a fine political speech worthy of a fellow who has his eye on 1974 or beyond. Governors don't like to be blamed for budgets and tax rates any more than state senators do, and some governors are more skittish than others about sharing the blame for state spending—even when spending is a necessity.

Time and time again, when they (legislators) add to the figures, I wish they'd include a footnote that they approve of the spending even though it would take an increase in sales and income taxes. They don't. They duck that," Exon said, making it sound as if any individual change in his budget would automatically force taxes up.

The "Battle of the Budget" should be brought more clearly into perspective.

The millions of dollars that the governor claims the Legislature has added to his budget—with the implication that the senators are not even thinking about tax rates but are spending like drunken sailors—won't affect the tax rates. At least not what has been done thus far. The Appropriations Committee's proposed state operational budget is set at a figure below what it would take to force an increase in the sales-income tax rates. Most of the millions the governor evidently is referring to are for items in the capital construction budget (although the committee hasn't finished its work on that yet) and would be funded through federal revenue sharing—thus not affecting state tax rates.

Let's be reasonable about it. The governor has offered a conservative budget. We bet that the Legislature, staying in the ball park, will not differ appreciably from it. It just isn't the case of a thrifty governor battling a wild-spending Legislature.

TOM WICKER

Nixon's Power Grab

NEW YORK — On the same day that President Nixon made the reasonable and necessary proposal that he be given executive power to raise or reduce tariffs, his attorney general made the unreasonable and absurd claim that all 2.5 million federal employees could be directed by the President not to testify before Congress. There could hardly be a better illustration of how the need for strong executive government, which no one can dispute, can be perverted into an open grab for imperial powers.

The low intellectual and constitutional level of Richard G. Kleindienst's astonishing performance is not hard to demonstrate, as in the following examples:

As the attorney general would say it, if a federal employee — say a postmaster in Colorado — were summoned by a congressional committee to tell it how (or if) the mails were going through his part of the country, the postmaster could not do so if the President directed him not to.

Or what about instances in which a president would wish to appoint a federal employee to a federal position requiring confirmation by the Senate — as just recently happened in the case of L. Patrick Gray 3d and several of the second-term cabinet members? Does the attorney general of the United States seriously claim that, if Nixon so ordered, these federal employees could invoke executive privilege to avoid confirmation hearings?

COULD order him not to testify. The plain meaning of that is that any president would have the right to determine what Congress could and could not hear from federal employees. One can be absolutely certain, for example, that no Pentagon accountant, in that case, would ever tell a congressional committee about a cost over-run on a new aircraft or submarine.

Again, suppose some federal employee is ordered by the President not to testify before Congress, and refuses to do so with the impunity Kleindienst claims. Later, as frequently happens, the employee leaves the federal service and writes a book about his experience. Does the attorney general claim that he could stop the man from writing the book? Or that what he might put into a book, Congress had no right to hear?

Suppose, for example, Nixon continues to refuse to let his counsel, John W. Dean 3d, testify in the Watergate case. Congress decides to take action. According to Kleindienst, it could either impeach Nixon or cut off all funds to the executive branch; but for such a relatively limited offense, neither of these sweeping "remedies" makes sense or would ever be practical.

They are more like going to war over the outcome of a soccer game, and to all intents and purposes are not remedies at all for the limited kind of offense that is likely to be at issue.

MANUEL CAMERO

They Had A Dream

Manuel Camero was one of the founders of Los Angeles and one of the pueblo's first regidores, or town councilmen. He and his wife, Maria, left their home in Sonora, Mexico, to help establish the new pueblo and, hopefully, to make for themselves a new and better life.

An emissary of Gov. Felipe de Neve had recruited them for the venture with promises of substantial rewards.

Camero was required to bind himself for 10 years, but in return he was to be paid $116 annually in clothing and supplies for the first two years and $60 annually for the next three.

He also was to be supplied with the tools and stock he would need to establish himself in the new land. The governor promised each settler two horses, two mares, two cows, a calf, two sheep, two goats, a mule, one yoke of oxen, a plow, spade, hoe, ax, sickle and musket.

Camero, who then was 30, was one of 12 married men who accepted the offer. Eleven and their families eventually reached the site of the new pueblo in 1781.

They were an extraordinary racial collection. Only two men were Spaniards. The other nine were Negro, mulatto, mestizo and Indian. Camero was identified as mulatto.

All of the women and the children were of mixed ancestry. Many of the children were a mixture of all three races — Negro, Indian and Spanish.

Camero and his wife, Maria, set about erecting a temporary hut as soon as they arrived. They lived in it while they built a permanent adobe home.

The settlers laid out a plaza measuring 200 by 300 ft., reserving the eastern side for public buildings. Each family was given its own plot of land on the pueblo's outskirts.

settlers were capable of exercising authority.

No elections were conducted until 1788. In that year, Jose Vanegas, a Mexican Indian, became the pueblo's first public official when he was elected alcalde, or mayor. Jose Sinova replaced him the next year, and, in addition, Camero and Felipe Garcia were selected as the pueblo's first regidores.

The pueblo prospered, and in 1790, it boasted 139 residents, 29 adobe homes, a town hall, barracks, guardhouse and common granaries. Excluding Mission San Gabriel, Los Angeles had become the most productive settlement in California.

Parking Protest

Lincoln, Neb.

The council is now considering the parking of pick-ups, campers and business trucks of a certain size on residential streets. Why park business trucks on a residential street when these people have garages and driveways? Residential streets should stay just that — not a parking place for business vehicles. rejects from the city dump that some people call campers and pick-ups. Why bother fixing up a yard when all the street parking offsets the work?

And just how many after-hours calls do these people have that the business truck must be parked on the street for quick getaway? Why not park the family car on the street and the truck in the drive, or better yet, in the garage? Free advertising could be a reason. You never see a plain panel truck that belongs to a business.

Also, if there has been an ordinance to prohibit parking of these vehicles on the street, why haven't they been ticketed as the police cars drive by instead of waiting for a complaint?

Someone has been doing a poor job of enforcing laws we already have and it would make it easier just to do away with the ordinance altogether and then not even a phone call could get these eyesores off the street. Would a new ordinance be enforced?

There is much too much parking now on residential streets and by the time pick-ups, campers, and business trucks are added, traffic through these areas will have a hard time dodging the clutter and watching for children crossing the streets from behind these parked vehicles. Residential areas are for families.

Let us concentrate on improving our neighborhoods and not lower our standards to the point where no one cares if he makes an effort to keep up his property.

Why Discriminate?

Lincoln, Neb.

I am amazed how the citizens and congressional delegation of our great agricultural state have been content to permit powerful political pressures to place ceilings on retail prices for beef, pork and lamb! Why not put price ceilings on all items and services? Why discriminate against beef, pork and lamb?

During the past five years, prices for motor vehicles and farm machinery increased 30-40%; the cost of public transportation rose 44%; cost of homeownership rose 43%; and medical care rose 35%. I have not been aware of any boycotts being organized to protest these price increases nor have I been informed of any intention of the President or Congress to place ceilings on these price increases. If we believe in fair play and if we really desire to make our state Number One in agriculture, then now is the time for citizens of Nebraska to unite and support agriculture and make it Number One in the nation!

J. R. DOWNING, SR.

With the blessings of The Star and the council, an amendment to the city charter will now be on the ballot for the third time. The council puts this amendment up to a vote of the people on the council's own decision. It was not necessary to circulate a petition for this amendment.

I see no consistency in the actions of the council or the editors of The Star. On the one hand, they say the people should not be permitted to vote on the Northeast Radial. On the other hand, they think the voters should vote for amendment to increase the pay of the councilmen. They must think the people are too stupid to vote, on the one hand, and too intelligent to vote, on the other.

Just A Rumor

Lincoln, Neb.

In the years that I have been a member of the League of Women Voters, never has the League tried to suggest that I vote for any particular candidate. Like any citizen, I am free to vote for the candidate whose philosophy of government most nearly agrees with my own.

I think it is known that the League staunchly refuses to endorse any candidate or political party, so why make a news story out of an obscure rumor? There are better things to do!

Inconsistency

Lincoln, Neb.

The Lincoln Star in an editorial of April 10 stated that "it's unfortunate that the Coalition Against the Radial chose an ill-advised proposed charter amendment as a means to stop construction of the Northeast Radial."

The proposed amendment is the only lawful means available to gain representation after a council is elected. When the coalition presented a petition of more than 1,700 signers asking the council to put the Northeast

Schnabel was speaking of disastrous floods, but the same observation applies to residents of earthquake-prone areas. San Francisco Bay Area residents continue to build homes and schools on or near the San Andreas Fault despite warnings that Northern California is due for a major quake. Just as most people prefer not to dwell on the thought of death, inhabitants of disaster country would rather trust to luck than to caution.

It is probably true that in such a ridiculous instance no president would so order the postmaster. But that does not alter the case, because the President under the Kleindienst doctrine

They Had A Dream

Manuel Camero was one of the founders of Los Angeles and one of the pueblo's first regidores, or town councilmen. He and his wife, Maria, left their home in Sonora, Mexico, to help establish the new pueblo and, hopefully, to make for themselves a new and better life.

An emissary of Gov. Felipe de Neve had recruited them for the venture with promises of substantial rewards.

Camero was required to bind himself for 10 years, but in return he was to be paid $116 annually in clothing and supplies for the first two years and $60 annually for the next three.

He also was to be supplied with the tools and stock he would need to establish himself in the new land. The governor promised each settler two horses, two mares, two cows, a calf, two sheep, two goats, a mule, one yoke of oxen, a plow, spade, hoe, ax, sickle and musket.

Camero, who then was 30, was one of 12 married men who accepted the offer. Eleven and their families eventually reached the site of the new pueblo in 1781.

They were an extraordinary racial collection. Only two men were Spaniards. The other nine were Negro, mulatto, mestizo and Indian. Camero was identified as mulatto.

All of the women and the children were of mixed ancestry. Many of the children were a mixture of all three races — Negro, Indian and Spanish.

Camero and his wife, Maria, set about erecting a temporary hut as soon as they arrived. They lived in it while they built a permanent adobe home.

The settlers laid out a plaza measuring 200 by 300 ft., reserving the eastern side for public buildings. Each family was given its own plot of land on the pueblo's outskirts.

settlers were capable of exercising authority.

No elections were conducted until 1788. In that year, Jose Vanegas, a Mexican Indian, became the pueblo's first public official when he was elected alcalde, or mayor. Jose Sinova replaced him the next year and, in addition, Camero and Felipe Garcia were selected as the pueblo's first regidores.

The pueblo prospered, and in 1790, it boasted 139 residents, 29 adobe homes, a town hall, barracks, guardhouse and common granaries. Excluding Mission San Gabriel, Los Angeles had become the most productive settlement in California.

Parking Protest

Lincoln, Neb.

The council is now considering the parking of pick-ups, campers and business trucks of a certain size on residential streets. Why park business trucks on a residential street when these people have garages and driveways? Residential streets should stay just that — not a parking place for business vehicles, rejects from the city dump that some people call campers and pick-ups. Why bother fixing up a yard when the street parking offsets the work?

And just how many after-hours calls do these people have that the business truck must be parked on the street for quick getaway? Why not park the family car on the street and the truck in the drive, or better yet, in the garage? Free advertising could be one reason. You never see a plain panel truck that belongs to a business.

Also, if there has been an ordinance to prohibit parking of these vehicles on the street, why haven't they been ticketed as the police cars drive by instead of waiting for a complaint?

Someone has been doing a poor job of enforcing laws we already have and it would make it easier just to do away with the ordinance altogether and then not even a phone call could get these eyesores off the street. Would a new ordinance be enforced?

There is much too much parking now on residential streets and by the time pick-ups, campers, and business trucks are added, traffic through these areas will have a hard time dodging the clutter and watching for children crossing the streets from behind these parked vehicles. Residential areas are for families.

Let us concentrate on improving our neighborhoods and not lower our standards to the point where no one cares if he makes an effort to keep up his property.

Why Discriminate?

Lincoln, Neb.

I am amazed how the citizens and congressional delegation of our great agricultural state have been content to permit powerful political pressures to place ceilings on retail prices for beef, pork and lamb! Why not put price ceilings on all items and services? Why discriminate against beef, pork and lamb?

During the past five years, prices for motor vehicles and farm machinery increased 30-40%; the cost of public transportation rose 44%; cost of homeownership rose 43%; and medical care rose 35%. I have not been aware of any boycotts being organized to protest these price increases nor have I been informed of any intention of the President or Congress to place ceilings on these price increases. If we believe in fair play and if we really desire to make our state Number One in agriculture, then now is the time for citizens of Nebraska to unite and support agriculture and make it Number One in the country.

The thought is chilling. For by now it is clear that these Nixon men are not merely trying to cover up whatever responsibility they may have for the Watergate affair. They are the same men who have gone to unprecedented lengths to seize the power of the purse from Congress, who are conducting unauthorized war in Cambodia in contradiction of the President's own pledges, who are trying to make it a felony to disclose almost any kind of foreign policy or national defense information and another felony to publish it.

Suppose, for example, Nixon continues to refuse to let his counsel, John W. Dean 3d, testify in the Watergate case. Congress decides to take action. According to Kleindienst, it could either impeach Nixon or cut off all funds to the executive branch; but for such a relatively limited offense, neither of these sweeping "remedies" makes sense or would ever be practical. They are more like going to war over the outcome of a soccer game, and to all intents and purposes are not remedies at all for the limited kind of offense that is likely to be at issue.

As for electing another president in protest against executive privilege, Congress and the nation would have to wait nearly four years in the present case, and even then there would be no punishment for Nixon, who cannot run again, anyway — unless, that is, Kleindienst also has a doctrine for surmounting that constitutional problem.

In the years that I have been a member of the League of Women Voters, never has the League tried to suggest that I vote for any particular candidate. Like any citizen, I am free to vote for the candidate whose philosophy of government most nearly agrees with my own.

I think it is known that the League staunchly refuses to endorse any candidate or political party, so why make a news story out of an obscure rumor? There are better things to do!

Answers Lie In Meetings

By DOMINICK COSTEILLO

Farm Editor
A prominent Nebraska wheat grower, Frank Johannsen of Bayard, believes that the answer to a long term improvement in the problems related to shipping grain for export lies in a meeting involving the major railroads delivering grain to the port of Houston and the export elevator operators.

"I have visited personally with both groups and learned that both have a lot of problems. I asked them if they had met with each other and have not been able to find any who had even spoken to each other recently," he said.

"I would like to see the Nebraska Wheat Growers or some other similar organization sponsor a meeting, perhaps with good meals and a relaxed atmosphere, to see if an exchange of ideas and problems might not lead to some solutions of the grain shipping problems," he said.

Observations

Johannsen has a number of observations on what can be done to improve the movement of grain from farm to ship.

"They need to build a big elevator out in the Gulf of Mexico where the water is 60 feet deep. The big tanker Manhattan, which could haul 100,000 tons of grain, has to leave with just 60,000 tons aboard because the harbor isn't deep enough," he said.

Johannsen has praised the efforts of the railroads to move grain. "They have done a great deal and are moving grain at a record rate, but there is so much more they could do to improve utilization of equipment.

They have labor problems, work rules that need changing, switching yards, and they have to sort cars two or three times between the farm area elevator and the ports," he said.

Load Easier

Modern ships are much easier to load than the older types. Johannsen commented. "You can load a 30,000-ton new freighter in about half the time you can load the old 18,000-to 20,000-ton ships," he said.

Johannsen did note some new methods being used to load ships and cut costs. "They used to build wooden bulkheads in holds to keep grain from shifting. Now they have a technique called bundling.

They make a huge canvas bag and fill it with perhaps 30,000 bushels of grain and set it down in the center of a ship to stabilize the load and then fill it with loose grain. This eliminates the need to build bulkheads and keeps the load from shifting on its trip to overseas ports," he explained.

Waste Of Time

Efforts by grain companies to cover open top hopper cars with plastic to keep out rain were pretty much a waste of time in Johannsen's view.

"The water just ran down the inside of the car instead of soaking the top of the load. Some cars looked good on top but were so caked up they had to unload them with a backhoe," he said.

Efforts to unload open top cars included special racks built to stand on while scraping grain out of cars with hoes, shovels and similar hand tools. Other elevators used backhoes and mechanical clam shells to break up caked grain and load it into trucks for transport to special dumps where it was blended with dry grain.

"They have just about stopped using the open top cars because of the problems, but they worry that they can't get along without them too," he said.

Delays

Some of the delays in shipping grain are caused by one individual person. Johannsen stated. A ship owned by an Indian company loaded with wheat for Russia was delayed several hours when a sailor was arrested on a drug charge just before they were to leave the port, he related.

The delay tied up three tugs and two ships plus the port elevator for several hours while the sailor's personal problems with the Texas police were resolved. Johannsen declared.

"That one incident cost some 80,000 bushels in loading capacity before it was solved," he said.

Johannsen did note some new

McCollister Calls For Full Watergate Probe

Washington (AP) — Rep. John Y. McCollister, R-Neb., added his support Friday to that of other GOP legislators calling for a full investigation of the Watergate case.

"I agree the administration has been much less than candid in talking about Watergate," he said. "I wish they would get it settled."

Bill Gives Liability Protection

North Platte (AP) — The Legislature has approved bills to provide liability protection for county employees. Roger Henderson, law professor at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, said Friday. He addressed the closing session of the 76th annual conference of the Nebraska Welfare Association.

He said the bill authorizes county boards to buy liability insurance for all county employees. He noted there are no such provisions for state employees.

Elected to the association's council during the conference were:

Bess Simmerman of Kearney; Dr. Albert Schrekinger of Lincoln; Adeline Hudson of Lexington; Sandra Markell of Schuyler; Judy Gregg of Scottsbluff and LaVern Poppe of Hebron.

Their terms expire in 1975. Special service awards were presented to Lancaster County Welfare Director J. Earle Trabert, and Sister Mary Gabriel of Omaha.

HHH: Nixon's Cuts Deceptive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Friday that many of the budget cuts claimed by President Nixon are phony.

He made public a study by the Senate-House Economic Committee which said that:

For fiscal 1973 that ends June 30, about $8 billion of the $11 billion in savings claimed by Nixon are questionable as real budget savings.

For fiscal 1974, beginning July 1, about $8 billion of the claimed $17 billion savings are questionable.

The study, Humphrey said, shows that the Nixon administration's spending reform policies are a combination of deception and incompetence and that it has misrepresented the savings achieved by the budget cuts.

Humphrey said Nixon's assertions about the alleged cuts are a part of his campaign "to label Congress as the big spender."

But the fact is, Humphrey said, both the executive and Congress are responsible for budget overruns in the current year as is usually the case.

These overruns were cited by Nixon as the reason for impoundments and other actions he took to keep spending within a $250-billion ceiling in fiscal 1973.

Humphrey said the overruns included $6.5 billion that resulted from initiatives by Nixon and $5 billion which originated in Congress, mostly for increased Social Security payments.

Humphrey said Nixon was waving "political hobgoblins" in asserting that a 15 per cent tax increase would be needed unless his specific 1974 budget proposals are adopted.

"There is not a scintilla of evidence for this," he said.

The Senate, he noted, has voted for a 1974 spending ceiling $700 million less than the $268.7 billion budget presented by Nixon.

Humphrey conceded in reply to questions that he did not believe Democrats would be able to override Nixon vetoes on many spending issues in this—the 93rd—Congress.

So far Nixon has been upheld in two such efforts.

"But I believe we should continue to make the record," the senator said.

Humphrey said that, in the joint Economic Committee study, there was "example after example of clever, diabolical manipulation of the budget."

"What disturbs me is that this document—the most important government document—does not level with the American people."

Humphrey said the study cited claimed cuts in defense spending as examples of "cosmetic" reductions which do not mean any real savings.

Thus, Humphrey said, a $1.2 billion saving in personnel and operations costs for the Pentagon was claimed. But it turned out, he said, that the claim was based on reductions from levels proposed by the military services but never approved.

Actually, the committee said in the report, personnel and operations costs will be up by $122 million in fiscal 1974 and total defense spending will rise by $4.7 billion.

Curtis Feels Watergate Won't Hurt Republicans

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., said Friday he doesn't feel the Watergate bugging incident has hurt the Republican Party very much, "if at all."

He said even the strongest Watergate critic admits that President Nixon is free of connection in any wrongdoing.

The Watergate incident involved the bugging of the Democratic national headquarters here by supporters of the President.

On other issues, Curtis said the battle is clearcut as to the budget. He said the nation can either support Nixon and keep spending down, "or we can

Indian Speaker Urges Support For AIM Legal Defense Fund

An American Indian Movement officer from Denver Friday urged Lincolners to help support the legal defense fund for the AIM.

Joe Locust, treasurer of the Denver chapter, told a University of Nebraska-Lincoln audience that as much as $250,000 may be needed to pay legal expenses involved in trials of AIM members.

A number of members of the activist Indian group have been arrested during the occupation of Wounded Knee and during AIM activities in other places.

Legal Fee Funds

Locust said the Denver AIM chapter is heading up the collection of funds for legal fees.

Locust was a speaker Friday afternoon during Indian awareness week activities at UNL.

He spent most of his address talking about Indian life in America and reviewing the history of Indians since the settlement of America by whites began.

Ecology Trend

Locust said the current trend toward ecology indicates that white men are trying to be like Indians, learning to live in harmony with nature.

At the same time, he said, Indians are "trying to learn how to be white."

He compared the situation to "two lost brothers looking for each other."

Indian week concludes with an all-tribal pow-wow Saturday and Sunday in the UNL Coliseum.

Freight Train Derails West Of Columbus

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP) — Fifteen cars of an eastbound Union Pacific freight train derailed a mile west of Columbus at 6 p.m. Friday, blocking both UP main lines.

Thone told the mayor that a revised plan would "encourage government and private business to use the plan as a basis for their developmental process."

Thone added that he would like to see the continuance of citizen participation with city and county officials in development of the revised plan.

Earl Harrelson, Union Pacific agent at Columbus, said it was hoped that repair crews could open at least one line before morning.

Big Strides Noted In Foster Care

Foster care in Nebraska has made "tremendous progress" in the past 10 years, state spokesman said Friday.

Strides in foster care have "gotten children out of institutions and into foster homes, better equipping them for adoptive homes," and saving tax money as a side benefit, said Mrs. Kay Stephens, president of Nebraska Foster and Adoptive Parents Club.

HHH: Nixon's Cuts Deceptive

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Friday that many of the budget cuts claimed by President Nixon are phony.

He made public a study by the Senate-House Economic Committee which said that:

For fiscal 1973 that ends June 30, about $8 billion of the $11 billion in savings claimed by Nixon are questionable as real budget savings.

For fiscal 1974, beginning July 1, about $8 billion of the claimed $17 billion savings are questionable.

The study, Humphrey said, "shows that the Nixon administration's spending reform policies are a combination of deception and incompetence and that it has misrepresented the savings achieved by the budget cuts."

Humphrey said Nixon's assertions about the alleged cuts are a part of his campaign "to label Congress as the big spender."

But the fact is, Humphrey said, both the executive and Congress are responsible for budget overruns in the current year as is usually the case.

These overruns were cited by Nixon as the reason for impoundments and other actions he took to keep spending within a $250-billion ceiling in fiscal 1973.

Humphrey said the overruns included $6.5 billion that resulted from initiatives by Nixon and $5 billion which originated in Congress, mostly for increased Social Security payments.

Humphrey said Nixon was waving "political hobgoblins" in asserting that a 15 per cent tax

Curtis Feels Watergate Won't Hurt Republicans

Washington (UPI) — Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., said Friday he doesn't feel the Watergate bugging incident has hurt the Republican Party very much, "if at all."

He said even the strongest Watergate critic admits that President Nixon is free of connection in any wrongdoing.

The Watergate incident involved the bugging of the Democratic national headquarters here by supporters of the President.

On other issues, Curtis said the battle is clearcut as to the budget. He said the nation can either support Nixon and keep spending down, "or we can

Indian Speaker Urges Support For AIM Legal Defense Fund

An American Indian Movement officer from Denver Friday urged Lincolnites to help support the legal defense fund for the AIM.

Joe Locust, treasurer of the Denver chapter, told a University of Nebraska-Lincoln audience that as much as $250,000 may be needed to pay legal expenses involved in trials of AIM members.

A number of members of the activist Indian group have been arrested during the occupation of Wounded Knee and during AIM activities in other places.

Legal Fee Funds

Locust said the Denver AIM chapter is heading up the collection of funds for legal fees.

Locust was a speaker Friday afternoon during Indian awareness week activities at UNL.

He spent most of his address talking about Indian life in America and reviewing the history of Indians since the settlement of America by whites began.

Ecology Trend

Locust said the current trend toward ecology indicates that white men are trying to be like Indians, learning to live in harmony with nature.

At the same time, he said, Indians are "trying to learn how to be white."

He compared the situation to "two lost brothers looking for each other."

Indian week concludes with an all-tribal pow-wow Saturday and Sunday in the UNL Coliseum.

Lincoln Gets HUD Funding To Update Plan

Rep. Charles Thone, R-Neb., notified Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf Friday that the Department of Housing and Urban Development has approved a $35,000 grant to Lincoln for the update of its comprehensive plan.

Thone told the mayor that a revised plan would "encourage government and private business to use the plan as a basis for their developmental process."

Thone added that he would like to see the continuance of citizen participation with city and county officials in development of the revised plan.

Earl Harrelson, Union Pacific agent at Columbus, said it was hoped that repair crews could open at least one line before morning.

COLUMBUS, Neb. (AP) — Fifteen cars of an eastbound Union Pacific freight train derailed a mile west of Columbus at 6 p.m. Friday, blocking both UP main lines.

Big Strides Noted In Foster Care

By DICK HOLMAN
Star Staff Writer

8-14, proclaimed by President Nixon.

Foster care in Nebraska has made "tremendous progress" in the past 10 years, state spokesman said Friday.

Actually, the committee said in the report, personnel and operations costs will be up by $12 million in fiscal 1974 and total defense spending will rise by $4.7 billion.

Strides in foster care have "gotten children out of institutions and into foster homes, better equipping them for adoption homes," and saving tax money as a side benefit, said Mrs. Kay Stephens, president of Nebraska Foster and Adoptive Parents Club.

She made the comments in a Lincoln news conference, held to draw attention to the climax of National Action for Foster Children's Week 1973 (April 10-14), proclaimed by President Nixon.

She made the comments in a Lincoln news conference, held to draw attention to the climax of National Action for Foster Children's Week 1973 (April 10-14), proclaimed by President Nixon.

The types of families who want to care for foster children have changed drastically, she said, attributing it to societal change: "There is more concern for children as a whole."

Mrs. Stephens explained that in 1962, the average age of a foster family was 55; in 1972, it had lowered to 35. Average education moved up from eighth grade to high school during the same decade, and average income of the families also rose from $2,500 to $15,000.

Room For 1 More

Mrs. Stephens said the national week emphasized the need for foster homes, but in Nebraska focused "mainly on the need for adoptive homes."

This is important, Mrs. Stephens said, because "children that are institutionalized will remain so throughout most of their adult lives."

Foster care officials are working to remove children from institutions at earlier ages.

Mrs. Stephens said she "would also like to see the courts take a closer look at terminating parental rights at an earlier age," where it is deemed parents need rehabilitation.

Bypassing Institutions

Dick Benton of Lincoln, state parole officer, said the state is bypassing institutions, "taking the kids directly from the courts and placing them into homes."

This is important, Mrs. Stephens said, because "children that are institutionalized will remain so throughout most of their adult lives."

Picture Changes

In the past decade, she said, "the foster care picture has changed." Now, "foster care families are the first to be considered to adopt the child." That concept eliminates the social impact of moving a child around.

Abortion Bill Criticized

The Nebraska Medical Association Friday said it opposes LB286 the abortion bill currently before the Nebraska Legislature.

The bill has several points which make it "medically inaccurate," the association said, and "there are also many confusing points that must be considered regarding this bill's legality."

Russell L Gorthey of Lincoln, chairman of the association's committee, stated, "The bill equates the medical care of a diabetic or rh-sensitized woman with criminal abortion." "Certain sections of this bill would preclude further improvement in the care of the pregnant woman and her unborn child, thereby freezing the quality of care at its present level," he said.

A bird carols its heart out. Pale pink blossoms proclaim the newness of life returning to dormant branches. Spring sunshine gleams on the white pillars of the church. Everywhere is joy and gladness as earth prepares to celebrate the Easter season.

Yet somewhere hearts are heavy. Pain blots out springtime ecstasies. Bird songs torment minds grayed with grief. What message can the Holy Day bring them?

In the darkest hour of the first Good Friday, Jesus, deserted by His followers, rejected by those He came to save, tortured and suffering, said, "Father, into Thy hands I commend my spirit."

Follow His example this Easter time. Whatever the situation, however bleak the outlook—commend your spirit, your very self to God. Your load will be lightened, your being restored.

Your church is an open door which calls you to the joyous realization of God's love as an unassailable source of strength in your life.

The bill has several points which make it "medically inaccurate," the association said, and, "there are also many confusing points that must be considered regarding this bill's legality."

Dr. Russell L. Gorthey of Lincoln, chairman of the association's committee, stated, "The bill equates the medical care of a diabetic or rh-sensitized woman with criminal abortion."

"Certain sections of this bill would preclude further improvement in the care of the pregnant woman and her unborn child, thereby freezing the quality of care at its present level," he said.

A bird carols its heart out. Pale pink blossoms proclaim the newness of life returning to dormant branches. Spring sunshine gleams on the white pillars of the church. Everywhere is joy and gladness as earth prepares to celebrate the Easter season.

Yet somewhere hearts are heavy. Pain blots out springtide ecstasies. Bird songs torment minds grayed with grief. What message can the Holy Day bring them?

In the darkest hour of the first Good Friday, Jesus, deserted by His followers, rejected by those He came to save, tortured and suffering, said, "Father, into Thy hands I commend my spirit."

Follow His example this Easter time. Whatever the situation, however bleak the outlook—commend your spirit, your very self to God. Your load will be lightened, your being restored.

Your church is an open door which calls you to the joyous realization of God's love as an unassailable source of strength in your life.

Pornography Curbs Proposed In Britain

LONDON (AP) — A backbench member of Parliament called Friday for new controls on pornography that would let people pursue "their own way to hell" in private, but would keep smut off street corners.

He won a government promise to draft just such a law, but only after one of the liveliest debates in the House of Commons this year.

Pornography, said Sir Gilbert Longden, a Conservative, is "the pollution of the mind," undermining the morals of the nation.

He proposed a new law that would ban "grossly offensive matter in public places." What he had in mind were display ads such as those outside movie theaters showing sexual athletes in naked combat, the kind of thing that can be seen by any 12-year-old passing by.

The new law, Longden said, should not attempt "the difficult task of redefining obscenity." Nor, he added, should it stop people "from pursuing their own way to hell by divers primrose paths of their own choosing."

The test, he added, was whether displays in public were erotic or sadistic and therefore offensive to a great many people. If so, Longden said, they should be banned.

William Hamling, a Labor lawmaker, suggested the real problem was too much censorship already.

"The law at present is an ass," Hamling asserted. "It ought to be liberalized further."

But more speakers sided with Longden. Eventually, Mark Carlisle, a junior minister at the Home Office, promised the government would draft a new law along the lines Longden suggested.

British obscenity laws have generally become more liberal since the office of the lord chamberlain, the former theater censor, was abolished in 1968. Full frontal nudity quickly came to the London stage.

Films are censored, but mostly so they can be rated as suitable for adults only or mixed audiences. Uncensored films are shown in private clubs. Some allegedly pornographic magazines are seized, others sold openly.

The pornography debate attracted many speakers convinced, in the words of one of them, that "permissiveness has gone dangerously far in this country." They cited freer divorce laws and legal abortions as important steps in this process.

Longden complained about ads in subway stations that show "a man holding a half naked girl in one hand and a smoking gun in the other."

He was supported, however, from some surprising quarters, suggesting a shift in parliamentary opinion. David Steel, a 35-year-old Liberal and one of the younger members of the House, said he favored a ban on pornographic ads. Five years ago, Steel sponsored the bill to legalize abortions.

"While leaving the freedom for people to publish and read what they want, and see what they want in the cinema," Steel said, "we have an obligation to make sure the result of that freedom is not a complete licentiousness and depravity of the city center, which is the case in London."

Veterans' Care Rapped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials of virtually all veterans hospitals have complained to Congress about poor facilities, overcrowding, and staff shortages.

They suggested that such conditions result in inadequate patient care, especially for aging veterans.

Officials of some hospitals reported persistent fire hazards, and some told of unbearable summertime heat in hospitals lacking air conditioning.

Some said they were repeating complaints voiced regularly for the past few years with no success in bringing about improvements. Others said some improvements are in sight if the Nixon administration releases necessary funds.

Officials of 167 Veterans Administration hospitals and clinics reported those views in response to a House Veterans Affairs committee questionnaire last month.

The committee published the replies in a report which became available Friday.

The report tends to substantiate the conclusions of a House Appropriations Committee investigation based on visits to 14 VA hospitals, interviews with VA officials and examination of agency records. That report in late February concluded that patient care fell short of acceptable standards.

The Veterans Affairs Committee, headed by Rep. W. J. Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., asked hospital officials to list the three most pressing needs. In virtually all cases, they said it was "extremely urgent" to expand space and hire additional personnel.

They complained that most of the planned paved roads follow existing dirt roadways. Much of the questioning, however, centered on a road which would extend into the south end of the park, farthest from the entrance, to the cave after which the park is named.

New Park Roads Draw Audubon Ire

The Game and Parks Commission's long-range development plans for Indian Cave State Park came under criticism from the Wachiska Audubon Society at the group's meeting.

Chuck Duncan of the commission's federal aid division spoke on the park development plan and was questioned by members of the society, who took issue with the commission's intentions of building a network of roads through the 3,300-acre park.

The largely undeveloped park is located in the Missouri River Bluffs on the Richardson-Nemaha County line.

Duncan emphasized that the park land has had many human uses since the area was first settled. A town was located there and numerous dirt roads already cross the park, he said.

Dirt Roads

Travel on the dirt roads can be uncomfortable in the summer months, he said, when they tend to be either dusty or muddy. "Auto sightseeing is likely to be the largest single use of the park," he added.

Audubon chapter President Walt Bagley acknowledged that "It seems to me we have an opportunity here for a unique hiking park," Bagley said.

Road To Cave

Duncan said that most of the planned paved roads follow existing dirt roadways. Much of the questioning, however, centered on a road which would extend into the south end of the park, farthest from the entrance, to the cave after which the park is named.

That road, Duncan said, would be built through an area which has been overgrown since a pioneer road was abandoned.

The proposed route runs below the bluffs along what is now a hiking path with a view of the Missouri River.

Other chapter members said the roads' influence would impair the park's natural beauty and wildlife habitat with noise and traffic congestion.

Lunch Begins NPA Meeting

The centennial convention of the Nebraska Press Association was kicked off Friday at a noon luncheon attended by state senators and state officials as well as editors and publishers from across the state.

Speaker at the luncheon was Dr. Robert Manley, a lecturer, historian and former member of the faculties of the University of Nebraska and Hiram Scott College.

Dwelling on the humorous incidents in the history of the state's newspapers, Manley told of one campaign mounted in the 1870's by a publisher who wanted to close down the University of Nebraska.

One story, he said, contained the shattering revelation that boys and girls were walking hand in hand on Lincoln streets as late as 9 p.m.

Manley also noted that

Abstinence Not Good

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) —

Parents should introduce their children to the controlled use of alcohol, said psychologist Dr. John Davies. He told a conference that youngsters who are not allowed an occasional drink are likely to try it in secret and may well become alcoholics in later life.

He was a graduate of the University of Nebraska, receiving a B.A. degree in 1939 and an LL.B. in 1941. Mr. Pansing was in the U.S. Navy in 1942 and was commissioned an ensign.

Purple Heart

While in the Navy he served as executive officer aboard an LST in the Mediterranean and was engaged in enemy action in North Africa, Sicily and Italy. He participated in the Allied landings at Salerno in 1943 and received a Purple Heart for shrapnel and concussion injuries suffered from a German shell.

Separated in January, 1946, on the basis of a physical disability, he joined the law firm of Peterson and Devoe.

Born Nov. 23, 1917, in Morenci, Ariz., Mr. Pansing became active in Lincoln city government soon after his service discharge.

He was also a member of the Tax Appraisal Board for Lancaster

In 1947 he ran for the Lincoln City Council and was swept into office for a four-year term, receiving more votes than incumbent Councilman Arthur Weaver, who was also successful in gaining re-election.

Also to be presented at the banquet is the second annual Master Editor-Publisher Award.

Mr. Pansing was lauded for his City Council work by the council after he declined to run for a second term in 1951. He was chairman of the recreation board during his four years of council membership and the council expressed its gratitude for the "fine work" he did in that capacity for the youth of the city.

Other groups Mr. Pansing has headed include the County Real Estate Classification and Appraisal Committee, Young Republicans campaign chairman backing Robert Crosby for governor, Organization and Extension Committee of Boy Scouts for the Lincoln District, Lincoln Legal Aid Bureau (of which he was co-founder and director), and state director of insurance.

Estate Classification and Appraisal Committee, Young Republicans campaign chairman backing Robert Crosby for governor, Organization and Extension Committee of Boy Scouts for the Lincoln District, Lincoln Legal Aid Bureau (of which he was co-founder and director), and state director of insurance.

He was also a member of the Tax Appraisal Board for Lancaster

In 1947 he ran for the Lincoln City Council and was swept into office for a four-year term, receiving more votes than incumbent Councilman Arthur Weaver, who was also successful in gaining re-election.

Also to be presented at the banquet is the second annual Master Editor-Publisher Award.

Mr. Pansing was lauded for his City Council work by the council after he declined to run for a second term in 1951. He was chairman of the recreation board during his four years of council membership and the council expressed its gratitude for the "fine work" he did in that capacity for the youth of the city.

State Income Tax Law Clarified By High Court

. . . SOME REVENUE LOSS EXPECTED

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday again clarified some of the impact of the state income tax which took effect six years ago.

The high court generally overruled state Tax Commissioner William Peters in Peters' interpretation of how to apply the act to a number of items such as income for partnerships and capital gains.

The decision is expected to result in some revenue loss to the state, but there was no immediate determination of what that cost would be.

The decision came as the high court, in a majority opinion by Judge Lawrence Clinton, which was without apparent dissent, overturned the Lancaster County District Court's dismissal of three of the four cases and ordered new lower court proceedings. The dismissal of the fourth case was upheld.

The four cases had all been brought in the lower court by parties affected by the state tax commissioner's ruling and the lower court had dismissed all four cases.

In the major finding, Clinton held that the tax commissioner should have — and must now — grant partial exemptions to those partnerships and stockholders in corporations with fiscal years beginning sometime during 1967. The ruling would affect those partnerships and stockholders in firms which completed only part of their fiscal year prior to the effective date of the state's income tax act on Jan. 1, 1968.

It had been the position of the state Revenue Department that such incomes could be taxed for all of 1967, but the high court said such instances were eligible for transitional exemptions provided by the legislature as the state shifted its taxing base and capital gains.

The high court also said a capital gain or loss realized by a fiscal year partnership prior to Jan. 1, 1968, is not includable in determining the partners' income tax liability for 1968, and held that the law did not contemplate use of fair market values as of Jan. 1, 1968 for determination of gain or loss in capital assets. Federal regulations should be used, the court said.

In his ruling on partnerships, Clinton said the law was not meant to be unfair and discriminatory against partnerships and not intended to become retroactive to those operations which had only partial fiscal years during 1967.

Peters declined immediate comment on the decision, saying he plans to discuss the decision with state Justice Department lawyers.

He also declined to discuss the economic impact of the decision and its possible cost to the state.

Meet Star Carrier Larry Jones

A personable and ambitious young man who is both an excellent worker and good company, that's how Larry Jones' supervisor describes this week's carrier salesman.

A talented salesman, Larry's business has shown a very substantial increase since he took over a route for The Lincoln Star two and a half years ago. His growing earnings have enabled Larry to buy such items as a 10-speed bicycle and a tape recorder while still saving a large share of his profits.

Larry attends Irving Junior High School in Lincoln where he maintains an excellent grade average and plays the snare drums in the school band. Future educational plans include attending the University of Nebraska and participating in varsity sports.

At the moment, Larry is looking forward to a leisurely Easter vacation with family at a resort in Arkansas.

Pleased with their son's business career, Larry's parents — Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Jones — feel that having a paper route is a great help in developing a young man's personality and teaching him responsibility and thrift.

IRS Reminder: Income Taxes Due Monday

Omaha (AP) — Officials of the Internal Revenue Service report that midnight Monday is the deadline for mailing 1972 income returns to the federal government.

Charles O'Grady, training and public information officer for the Omaha office of the IRS, said 365,218 Nebraskans had completed the annual task by mid-week compared with 350,684 at the same time last year.

He expects the number filing in the state will be 550,000 and most of them will get refunds.

O'Grady said about 70% of those filing have been receiving refunds. "The average refund is $304 compared with $211 last year," he said.

He said a total of 854,489 forms of all kinds were checked by the IRS from Nebraska last year and only 14,130 were screened out for special auditing by IRS examiners.

Norbert Tiemann

U.S. Post 'Delights' Tiemann

He's Highway Administrator

Former Nebraska Gov. Norbert Tiemann said Friday he was "delighted" by his nomination to become federal highway administrator.

Tiemann said the nomination was a good opportunity for him to get back to building highways which he said was a major concern of his administration during his term as governor from 1967 to 1971.

Tiemann, 48, Nebraska governor from 1967 to 1971, would succeed Francis C. Turner in the $42,500-a-year post. Tiemann, 48, is vice president of First Mid America, a Lincoln investment banking firm.

The nomination, he said, removes him from any consideration of seeking an elected post in 1974. In fact, he said his involvement in election politics would be over in the near future.

But the former GOP governor said the situation could change in that regard, but he didn't elaborate.

Tiemann declined at this point to express an opinion on the issue of whether interstate highway construction funds can or should be impounded by the administration.

The state of Missouri has successfully challenged in the U.S. District Court in Kansas City the administration's impoundment of interstate highway money, and the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has upheld the ruling.

Tiemann said the circuit court ruling apparently is under study by government attorneys, who have not yet said whether the case will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

"Given those circumstances, I probably shouldn't say anything," Tiemann said.

Tiemann, a Republican, was defeated for re-election as governor in 1970 by Democrat J. James Exon.

Exon said Friday he is pleased at the Tiemann appointment because "he is certainly very familiar with the problems Nebraska has encountered for years regarding the impounded federal highway trust funds."

I am sure Mr. Tiemann will be able to assist us in negotiations with the Department of Transportation on this problem. This appointment can do nothing but be helpful to the state," he said.

"And I understand that Mr. Franklin is a member of the board of the oil organization. And also, we understand this man is a millionaire. And we understand this man is also pro-Bureau of Indian Affairs," Mackey added.

Battle Creek (AP) — Fire early Friday destroyed the two-story frame home of the Walter Kline family in Battle Creek.

Kline, his wife and two children escaped the blaze unharmed. It was believed the fire started in the basement. Leland Kline of the Battle Creek Fire Department said a possible cause was faulty electrical wiring.

State Income Tax Law Clarified By High Court

SOME REVENUE LOSS EXPECTED

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The Nebraska Supreme Court Friday again clarified some of the impact of the state income tax which took effect six years ago.

The high court generally overruled state Tax Commissioner William Peters in Peters' interpretation of how to apply the act to a number of items such as income for partnerships and capital gains.

The decision is expected to result in some revenue loss to the state, but there was no immediate determination of what that cost would be.

The decision came as the high court, in a majority opinion by Judge Lawrence Clinton, which was without apparent dissent, overturned the Lancaster County District Court dismissal of three of the four cases and ordered new lower court proceedings. The dismissal of the fourth case was upheld.

The four cases had all been brought in the lower court by parties affected by the state tax commissioner's ruling and the lower court had dismissed all four cases.

In the major finding, Clinton held that the tax commissioner should have — and must now — grant partial exemptions to those partnerships and stockholders in corporations with fiscal years beginning sometime during 1967. The ruling would affect those partnerships and stockholders in firms which completed only part of their fiscal year prior to the effective date of the state's income tax act on Jan. 1, 1968.

It had been the position of the state Revenue Department that such incomes could be taxed for all of 1967, but the high court said such instances were eligible for transitional exemptions provided by the legislature as the state shifted its taxing base.

The high court also said a capital gain or loss realized by a fiscal year partnership prior to Jan. 1, 1968, is not includable in determining the partners' income tax liability for 1968, and held that the law did not contemplate use of fair market values as of Jan. 1, 1968 for determination of gain or loss in capital assets. Federal regulations should be used, the court said.

In his ruling on partnerships, Clinton said the law was not meant to be unfair and discriminatory against partnerships and not intended to become retroactive to those operations which had only partial fiscal years during 1967.

Peters declined immediate comment on the decision, saying he plans to discuss the decision with state Justice Department lawyers.

He also declined to discuss the economic impact of the decision and its possible cost to the state.

Meet Star Carrier Larry Jones

A personable and ambitious young man who is both an excellent worker and good company," that's how Larry Jones' supervisor describes this week's carrier salesman.

A talented salesman, Larry's business has shown a very substantial increase since he took over a route for The Lincoln Star two and a half years ago. His growing earnings have enabled Larry to buy such items as a 10-speed bicycle and a tape recorder while still saving a large share of his profits.

Larry attends Irving Junior High School in Lincoln where he maintains an excellent grade average and plays the snare drums in the school band. Future educational plans include attending the University of Nebraska and participating in various sports.

At the moment, Larry is looking forward to a leisurely Easter vacation with family at a resort in Arkansas.

Pleased with their son's business career, Larry's parents — Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Jones — feel that having a paper route is a great help in developing a young man's personality and teaching him responsibility and thrift.

U.S. Post 'Delights' Tiemann

He's Highway Administrator

Former Nebraska Gov. Norbert Tiemann said Friday he was "delighted" at his nomination by President Nixon to become federal highway administrator.

Tiemann said the nomination was a good opportunity for him to get back to building highways which he said was a major concern of his administration during his term as governor from 1967 to 1971.

Tiemann, 48, Nebraska governor from 1967 to 1971, would succeed Francis C. Turner in the $42,500-a-year post. Tiemann, 48, is vice president of First Mid America, a Lincoln investment banking firm.

The nomination, he said, removes him from any consideration of seeking an elected post in 1974. In fact, he said his involvement in election politics would be over in the near future.

But the former GOP governor said the situation could change in that regard, but he didn't elaborate.

Tiemann declined at this point to express an opinion on the issue of whether interstate highway construction funds can or should be impounded by the administration.

The state of Missouri has successfully challenged in the U.S. District Court in Kansas City the administration's impoundment of interstate highway money, and the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals has upheld the ruling.

Tiemann said the circuit court ruling apparently is under study by government attorneys, who have not yet said whether the case will be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

"Given those circumstances, I probably shouldn't say anything," Tiemann said.

Tiemann, a Republican, was defeated for re-election as governor in 1970 by Democrat J. James Exon.

Exon said Friday he is pleased at the Tiemann appointment because "he is certainly very familiar with the problems Nebraska has encountered for years regarding the impounded federal highway trust funds."

"I am sure Mr. Tiemann will be able to assist us in negotiations with the Department of Transportation on this problem. This appointment can do nothing but be helpful to the state,"

Friday Wedding

At an 8 o'clock ceremony on Friday evening, April 13, the marriage of Miss Denise Jean Grabowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Grabowski, to Thomas Allen Maddox, son of Mrs. Wayne Honnor, and the late Mr. Maddox, took place at St. Mary's Catholic Church. Msgr. John J. Flynn solemnized the 8 o'clock service.

Mrs. Stephen Hansen of Nebraska was her sister's matron of honor, and Miss Jennifer Kailey of Spencer, Iowa, was the maid of honor. Miss Patty Grabowski and Miss Carol Grabowski, both sisters of the bride, were the bridesmaids, and Miss Terri Maddox was the junior bridesmaid.

Pfc. Craig Colburn of Junction City, Kan., served as best man, and seating the guests were Randy McGinnis and Ron Martin and the groomsmen and ushers included Donald Halouska of Omaha; Ronald Dupont, Louis Grabowski, Randy McGinnis, Ron Martin, and Cory Maddox, junior groomsmen.

The bride chose a gown of sheer organza and chantilly lace for her wedding. The sculptured bodice, designed with a high lace collar above a sheer yoke, and long, deeply cuffed full sleeves, was veiled with iridescent-patterned lace. The lace was repeated in front panels on the A-line silhouette skirt, and to border the wide, cotillion-length train. Lace also bordered her train-length mantilla veil, and she carried a bouquet of orchid-toned cornflowers and gypsophila.

Mr. Maddox and his bride will reside at Moffett Field, California, where the bridegroom, a graduate of the Naval Radio School, is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

BRIDGE overcoming the odds

B. Jay Becker

when he cashed the queen of spades and exited with a spade to South's ten. But this proved to be only a temporary palliative, for South countered that move by playing the ace and another diamond.

Back on lead with the king of diamonds, West again found his position untenable. It did not matter whether he returned a spade or a diamond; in either case South would ruff in dummy and discard his club loser on the trick.

All of which goes to show that in bridge, as in life, you can sometimes overcome enormous odds if you play your cards right.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 ♥ 1 ♠ 2 ♥ Pass
Opening lead - eight of clubs.

If you study all four hands it would seem that declarer must eventually go down either one or two tricks. But, in fact, South made the contract, and, furthermore, his right honorable opponents could do nothing about it.

West made the neutral lead of a club and South, taking advantage of West's overcall, proceeded to play the hand with great aplomb.

Following low from dummy, he won East's jack of clubs with the ace, drew three rounds of trumps, and played a club to dummy's king.

Now, having denuded West of all his hearts and clubs, declarer led a low spade from dummy. He planned to play the ten if East followed low, and so force a favorable return from West.

But East, anticipating South's purpose, put up the jack of spades in an effort to nullify the budding endplay. However, it did him no good, for South covered the jack with the king, won by West with the ace.

West did as well as he could

Workshop Scheduled

The Lincoln Preschool Association will sponsor a workshop on making puppets and using them with young children.

Professional puppeteer, Mrs. Lee Ridge, will conduct the workshop which is to be held between the hours of 9:30 o'clock and 3 o'clock on Saturday, April 14, at the Bryan Health Center, 40th and Franklin.

All persons interested in the education of young children are welcome to attend the workshop.

Easter Bunny Will Appear

The Easter Bunny will make an unscheduled, advance appearance at an Easter Egg Hunt which will be held at Roberts Park on Sunday afternoon, April 15.

The event is sponsored by the Lincoln Mrs. Jaycees who will entertain their families at the pre-Easter egg hunt.

Skyline Terrace Meadow Lane

According to the "Farmer's Almanac," a number of notable historical events have taken place during the month of April. For example, exactly 108 years ago today — on April 14, 1865 — President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated while attending a play at Ford's Theater in Washington, D.C.; and on April 18, 1906, the city of San Francisco experienced one of the worst earthquakes ever to occur in the United States. And, looking even further back into history, April 21 is allegedly the date on which, in 753 B.C., Rome was founded.

This morning, we also have news of several anniversaries that have been, or will be, observed in Lincoln's suburban neighborhoods. And no matter what the occasion is that is being celebrated, such festivities are always a great deal of fun for everyone involved.

A youngster's first birthday is quite a special event — especially when a large group of family members is able to take part in the celebration. Such will be the case on Sunday, April 15, when Mr. and Mrs. Perry Russell of Meadow Lane are host and hostess at their home for a party honoring their son, Brian Russell, who will observe his very first birthday on that particular date.

Guests at the family dinner will include Brian's sisters, Tracey and Terri; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Russell of Omaha, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cramer of Grand Island, and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Russell and children, Mary Anne, Elizabeth, Christian and Matthew, also of Grand Island.

Busy making preparations for the arrival of out-of-town visitors who will come to Lincoln on Monday, April 16, are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Way and children, Alex, Marsha and Kevin. The Way's guests will be Mr. Way's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Corliss, who will stop in Nebraska enroute to the west coast where they will take up residence in Van Nuys, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Corliss, who have been living in Toledo, Ohio, will be the guests of honor at a family dinner which will take place at the Way home on the evening of their arrival. The dinner will serve a double purpose — to welcome the visitors, as well as to honor them on the occasion of their "one month" wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Corliss were married on Friday, March 16, in Toledo.

Banquet

The wives of the seniors planning to be graduated this spring from the University of Nebraska College of Law will be singled out for honors at a banquet which will take place at East Hills on Saturday evening, April 14.

Also to be honored will be the husbands of the NU Law Wives Club which is sponsoring the 6:30 o'clock event.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Forty years ago I fell in love with my first cousin. I was 17, and he was 19. Our parents (wisely?) broke it up.

I am 57 now, and he is 59 and both of us are free to marry. I'm recently widowed, and he's divorced. We would like to marry as we truly love each other. I am through menopause which means there will be no children.

Can first cousins marry in the state of Arizona, where I live? If not, how about Illinois, where he lives?

WALKING ON AIR

DEAR WALKING: A clergyman or lawyer in your state can quickly give you the yes or no.

DEAR ABBY: To the correspondent who said wedding presents were out of style — that they just passed the tray and collected money instead:

Last summer we attended a wedding where the festive dinner was prepared by friends who were members of a gourmet cooking club. Their "gift" was preparing the dinner. Another friend donated his services by painting two rooms in the old house where the bride and groom were going to live.

Soliciting gifts of money would be considered bad form in our circles, and we are by no means the only ones.

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating an attractive gentleman who has a very annoying habit. He keeps looking at his watch every 15 minutes or so. What conclusions would you draw from this annoying habit?

The visitors plan to remain in Lincoln until Friday, April 20.

A celebration was on the agenda last weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pierce of Skyline Terrace, and the guest of honor at the festive event was Mr. and Mrs. Pierce's daughter, Miss Carolyn Pierce. It seems that Carolyn observed her 13th birthday on Saturday, April 7, and to mark the occasion, she invited a group of her school friends to her home for a pizza supper followed by a slumber party.

Taking part in the fun were Kathy Sayers, Angela McLaughlin, Marcia Thompson, Barb Bartlett, Patty Webster and Suzanne Schultz.

Doing a bit of traveling away from Lincoln this weekend are Mr. and Mrs. Terry Gardner and sons Bradley and Dennis. The Gardner family left yesterday evening, and their destination was Norfolk, where they are visiting at the home of Mrs. Gardner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Anderson.

Tomorrow, the Lincoln travelers will say goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, and they will motor to Columbus for a brief visit with Mr. Gardner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gardner.

They plan to return home Sunday evening.

According to the "Farmer's Almanac," a number of notable historical events have taken place during the month of April. For example, exactly 108 years ago today — on April 14, 1865 — President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated while attending a play at Ford's Theater in Washington, D.C.; and on April 18, 1906, the city of San Francisco experienced one of the worst earthquakes ever to occur in the United States. And, looking even further back into history, April 21 is alleged to be the date on which, in 753 B.C., Rome was founded.

This morning, we also have news of several anniversaries that have been, or will be, observed in Lincoln's suburban neighborhoods. And no matter what the occasion is that is being celebrated, such festivities are always a great deal of fun for everyone involved.

A youngster's first birthday is quite a special event — especially when a large group of family members is able to take part in the celebration. Such will be the case on Sunday, April 15, when Mr. and Mrs. Perry Russell of Meadow Lane are host and hostess at their home for a party honoring their son, Brian Russell, who will observe his very first birthday on that particular date.

Guests at the family dinner will include Brian's sisters, Tracey and Terri; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Russell of Omaha, and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Cramer of Grand Island; and his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Russell and children, Mary Anne, Elizabeth, Christian and Matthew, also of Grand Island.

Busy making preparations for the arrival of out-of-town visitors who will come to Lincoln on Monday, April 16, are Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Way and children, Alex, Marsha and Kevin. The Way's guests will be Mr. Way's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Corliss, who will stop in Nebraska enroute to the west coast where they will take up residence in Van Nuys, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. Corliss, who have been living in Toledo, Ohio, will be the guests of honor at a family dinner which will take place at the Way home on the evening of their arrival. The dinner will serve a double purpose — to welcome the visitors, as well as to honor them on the occasion of their "one month" wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Corliss were married on Friday, March 16, in Toledo.

At an 8 o'clock ceremony on Friday evening, April 13, the marriage of Miss Denise Jean Grabowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Grabowski, to Thomas Allen Maddox, son of Mrs. Wayne Honnor, and the late Mr. Maddox, took place at St. Mary's Catholic Church. Msgr. John J. Flynn solemnized the 8 o'clock service.

Mrs. Stephen Hansen of Nebraska was her sister's matron of honor, and Miss Jennifer Kailey of Spencer, Iowa, was the maid of honor. Miss Patty Grabowski and Miss Carol Grabowski, both sisters of the bride, were the bridesmaids, and Miss Terri Maddox was the junior bridesmaid.

Pfc. Craig Colburn of Junction City, Kan., served as best man, and seating the guests were Randy McGinnis and Ron Martin and the groomsmen and ushers included Donald Halouska of Omaha; Ronald Dupont, Louis Grabowski, Randy McGinnis, Ron Martin, and Cory Maddox, junior groomsman.

The bride chose a gown of sheer organza and chantilace for her wedding. The sculptured bodice, designed with a high lace collar above a sheer yoke, and long, deeply cuffed full sleeves, was veiled with iridescent-patterned lace. The lace was repeated in front panels on the A-line silhouette skirt, and to border the wide, cotillion-length train. Lace also bordered her train-length mantilla veil, and she carried a bouquet of orchid-tone cornflowers and gypsophila.

Mr. Maddox and his bride will reside at Moffett Field, California, where the bridegroom, a graduate of the Naval Radio School, is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

Banquet

The wives of the seniors planning to be graduated this spring from the University of Nebraska College of Law will be singled out for honors at a banquet which will take place at East Hills on Saturday evening, April 14.

Also to be honored will be the husbands of the NU Law Wives Club which is sponsoring the 6:30 o'clock event.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Forty years ago I fell in love with my first cousin. I was 17, and he was 19. Our parents (wisely?) broke it up.

I am 57 now, and he is 59 and both of us are free to marry. I'm recently widowed, and he's divorced. We would like to marry as we truly love each other. I am through menopause which means there will be no children.

Can first cousins marry in the state of Arizona, where I live? If not, how about Illinois, where he lives?

WALKING ON AIR

DEAR WALKING: A clergyman or lawyer in your state can quickly give you the yea or the nay.

DEAR ABBY: To the correspondent who said wedding presents were out of style — that they just passed the tray and collected money instead:

Last summer we attended a wedding where the festive dinner was prepared by friends who were members of a gourmet cooking club. Their "gift" was preparing the dinner. Another friend donated his services by painting two rooms in the old house where the bride and groom were going to live.

Soliciting gifts of money would be considered bad form in our circles, and we are by no means the idle rich. Imaginative gifts suitable to the circumstances rate top.

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating an attractive gentleman who has a very annoying habit. He keeps looking at his watch every 15 minutes or so. What conclusions would you draw from this annoying habit?

Opening lead - eight of clubs.

If you study all four hands it would seem that declarer must eventually go down either one or two tricks. But, in fact, South made the contract, and, furthermore, his right honorable opponents could do nothing about it.

West made the neutral lead of a club and South, taking advantage of West's overcall, proceeded to play the hand with great aplomb.

Following low from dummy, he won East's jack of clubs with the ace, drew three rounds of trumps, and played a club to dummy's king.

Now, having denuded West of all his hearts and clubs, declarer led a low spade from dummy. He planned to play the ten if East followed low, and so force a favorable return from West.

But East, anticipating South's purpose, put up the jack of spades in an effort to nullify the bidding endplay. However, it did him no good, for South covered the jack with the king, won by West with the ace.

The visitors plan to remain in Lincoln until Friday, April 20.

A celebration was on the agenda last weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pierce of Skyline Terrace, and the guest of honor at the festive event was Mr. and Mrs. Pierce's daughter, Miss Carolyn Pierce. It seems that Carolyn observed her 13th birthday on Saturday, April 7, and to mark the occasion, she invited a group of her school friends to her home for a pizza supper followed by a slumber party.

Taking part in the fun were Kathy Sayers, Angela McLaughlin, Marcia Thompson, Barb Bartlett, Patty Webster and Suzanne Schultz.

Doing a bit of traveling away from Lincoln this weekend are Mr. and Mrs. Terry Gardner and sons Bradley and Dennis. The Gardner family left yesterday evening, and their destination was Norfolk, where they are visiting at the home of Mrs. Gardner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Anderson.

Tomorrow, the Lincoln travelers will say goodbye to Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, and they will motor to Columbus for a brief visit with Mr. Gardner's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gardner.

They plan to return home Sunday evening.

MISS KIM REINBOTH

This morning the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Kim Marie Reinboth of Lincoln, daughter of Mrs. Ralph Reinboth of Hebron, and the late Mr. Reinboth, to Donald Douglas Freeman, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas D. Freeman of Deshler, is announced by the bride-elect's mother.

The wedding will take place on Friday, May 25, and the ceremony will be solemnized at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Hebron.

Miss Reinboth is a graduate of Joseph's College of Beauty in Lincoln.

Mr. Freeman is a senior at the University of Nebraska, and also is working in the offices of the Nebraska State Department of Education.

BRIDGE overcoming the odds

when he cashed the queen of spades and exited with a spade to South's ten. But this proved to be only a temporary palliative, for South countered that move by playing the ace and another diamond.

Back on lead with the king of diamonds, West again found his position untenable. It did not matter whether he returned a spade or a diamond; in either case South would ruff in dummy and discard his club loser on the trick.

All of which goes to show that in bridge, as in life, you can sometimes overcome enormous odds if you play your cards right.

Market Closes Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market finished somewhat lower Friday as investors took advantage of the bargains to be had after the rally sparked by good first-quarter earnings.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials closed down 4.67 points at 959.36. The Dow had dropped over three points on Thursday but in the four prior sessions it had advanced 44 4/4 points.

"It's almost a textbook case of a profit-taking pullback following a meaningful rally Friday through Wednesday," said Robert Stovall of Reynolds Securities.

Analysts said the quiet pace of the market also could be attributed to a wait-and-see attitude on what was going to be done on the inflation question.

Borden was the most-active on the Big Board, with a 300-share block traded at 23 1/2, making it the largest block trade in terms of shares this year. Borden finished down 1/2 at 23 1/2.

Occidental Petroleum was the second most active, up 1 at 12 1/2. Occidental gained 1/2 Thursday after it was announced that the company and the Soviet Union had signed a multibillion dollar barter chemical fertilizer contract for the next 20 years.

The S. S. Kresge Co. was the third most-active down 1/2 at 36 1/2. An 89,000-share block was traded at 36 1/2, off 1/2, and a 90,000-share block was traded at 36 1/2.

Trading was also slow on the Amex, with declining issues edging out advances 467 to 345 in the 1,183 issues changing hands. The most-active issue on the Amex was Great Basin Petroleum, closing up 1/2 at 34 1/2.

Other active issues on the Big Board included Western Union, up 1 at 26 1/2. Western Union dropped 3 1/2 Thursday after negative analysts' comments. Magnoval slipped 1 to 3 1/2, after a low first-quarter earnings report as did Westinghouse Electric, down 1/2 at 34 1/2.

Exxon, which sparked something of a psychological rally earlier in the week when it moved up to 101, was subject to some profit taking today and closed down 1/2 at 98 1/2.

The NASDAQ composite of 30 industrials closed down 0.37 at 115.22.

Hooki Lau Seeks Third 1973 Win In $5,000 Fonner Mile

Star Sports Writer

Grand Island — Hooki Lau, whose only blemish this year was a second-place finish two weeks ago, seeks his third triumph this season in the 11th running of the Fonner Mile here Saturday at Fonner Park.

Nine foes have been named to face Hooki Lau in the scamper for a $5,000 purse for 3-year-olds and up. The race will be one of 10 on Saturday — the longest race card ever held in Nebraska.

The extra race — nine are usually held on Saturdays — was scheduled to aid horsemen who lost an entire day of racing when snows canceled Monday's program at Fonner.

Assigned top-weight of 120 pounds by racing secretary Dean Williams, Hooki Lau will carry his regular jockey Wayne Anderson.

Boston Wins NBA Series

ATLANTA (AP) — Jo Jo White and John Havlicek sparked a fourth period flurry Friday night as the Boston Celtics beat the Atlanta Hawks 121-103 to advance to the National Basketball Association Eastern Division playoff finals.

The victory gave the Celtics a 4-2 edge in games in the division semifinals and sends them against the New York Knicks Sunday at Boston in the first game of their best-of-seven series.

White scored 12 points and Havlicek 10 during an eight-minute span in which Boston outscored the Hawks 25-2 to erase a 92-87 deficit. The Hawks went scoreless for more than seven minutes between a basket by Pete Maravich and a free throw by rookie Steve Bracey with only 1:52 left in the game.

Bracey reeled off six of eight Hawk points in the first 90 seconds of the final period as Atlanta leaped to a 92-87 lead to the delight of 16,181 fans, the largest crowd ever to see a basketball game in Georgia.

However, the Hawks then started turning the ball over and went cold from the field, missing three layups during their long scoreless lull.

Murle Greer, the first-round leader at 68, had a 40 on the front nine and finished with a 79, dropping seven strokes behind Miss Kazmierski.

Chicago Topples Lakers

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bulls, led by the inspired play of guards Norm VanLier and Jerry Sloan, who combined for 53 points, defeated the defending champion Los Angeles Lakers 101-93 Friday night to square at 3-3 their National Basketball Association playoff series.

The best-of-seven Western Conference semifinal series now goes to Los Angeles Sunday for the deciding game.

Sloan scored 27 points and VanLier, a sparkplug all the way, scored 26 as the Bulls stayed alive in the first round playoff series, which the Lakers last year swept four straight.

The Bulls, who also got 16 points from a third guard, southpaw Bobby Weiss, took charge in the second period to hold a 51-48 halftime lead.

In the third period, VanLier and Sloan ignited a spurt which carried the Bulls to a 16-point lead at 74-58 with four minutes left in the period.

That finished off the Lakers, who had won their three games at Los Angeles while the Bulls took the three games at Chicago Stadium, which was packed Friday night with a season-high attendance of 18,096.

The Lakers' scoring punch came from Jerry West with 19 points and Jim McMillian with 16. West's backcourt running mate, Gail Goodrich, was held to only four points on two field goals.

Joyce, at 40 for 36 holes after par 72 Thursday — when there was no wind factor, led Betty Burfeindt, who had a second-round 73.

One stroke further back at 143 were Carol Mann and Marlene Haggie, who each shot 71.

Blancas Moves Ahead In Monsanto By Two

Pensacola, Fla. (AP) — Homero Blancas put together a hard-earned two-under-par 69 and stretched his lead to two strokes Friday in the second round of the $150,000 Monsanto Open Golf Tournament.

The swarthy, paunchy veteran, seeking his fifth title in nine years on the pro tour, improved on his first-round advantage when he posted a 36-hole total of 136, six under par on the 6,679-yard Pensacola Country Club course.

Blancas' closest pursuer was his sometime roommate, veteran Frank Beard.

Beard, trying to fight his way out of the longest slump of his career, had the best round of the day with a 66 and was alone in second at 138.

The quartet at 139 consisted of Australian Bruce Crampton, veteran Doug Sanders, Al Geiger and Bob Wynn. Crampton, Wynn and Geiger had 69s in the warm, sunny weather and Sanders matched par 71.

Tennis Facility Opening Soon

Wally Rudolph is keeping his fingers crossed. After months of delay, he is hoping Lincoln's first indoor tennis facility will be completed by June 1.

Construction problems and bad weather have slowed the completion of Rudolph's Lincoln Racquet Club, which was originally scheduled to open Nov. 1.

"We didn't get the roof on until the end of February," said Rudolph, a law professor at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln and one of the private investors behind the tennis center. "By then it was too cold to lay the asphalt base for the tennis courts."

Besides the cold weather, recent heavy rains have slowed construction. Rudolph reports that the wet ground has made it impossible to lay the asphalt base for the tennis courts.

Once the ground is dry enough, Rudolph predicts it will take three to four weeks to lay the asphalt, apply the playing surface and install lighting. The Lincoln attorney said the facility's clubhouse "is coming along nicely and should be finished soon."

Nebraska Trackmen Traveling

The University of Nebraska track team established itself as the Goliath of the Big Eight by winning the conference indoor championship last month.

But coach Frank Sevigne's Huskers may suddenly find themselves playing the role of David Saturday.

Nebraska will be in Eugene, Ore., facing defending national champion UCLA, perennial power Oregon and Washington State in a quadrangular meet for its opening outdoor test.

In fact, UCLA won the national outdoor title the past two years. In addition, the Bruins captured the NCAA championship in 1956 and '66.

Oregon, which drubbed the Huskers in a dual meet in Lincoln last year, 105-40, has also won or shared four national crowns in the past ten years.

OU Schedules First Scrimmage

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — The University of Oklahoma football Sooners worked on polishing the rough edges Friday in preparation for the team's initial full-fledged scrimmage of the spring drills Saturday.

The scrimmage will be viewed by high school coaches from across the state attending the annual coaches clinic at the university. A total of 325 coaches were in attendance Friday.

Offensive coordinator Galen Hall said the Sooner offense "worked on basic play polish," in Friday's session. "On defense we worked primarily on techniques and goal line stands," he said.

Tight end John Carroll was still on the injured list Friday, as were nose guard Larry Duke and offensive tackle Eddie Foster. Fullback Randy Coffman, a sophomore-to-be from Altus, was also doubtful for Saturday's scrimmage.

Grouped at 140, just four strokes back going into the last 36 holes of this chase for a $30,000 first prize, were Canadian George Knudson, New Zealand lefthander Bob Charles, Steve Melnyk, Andy North and Jim Barber.

Barber and Melnyk shot 68s, North and Knudson had 70s and Charles took a 71.

Masters champion Tommy Aaron withdrew after shooting a flat 77 in Thursday's opening round.

Blancas, who needs a victory here to become eligible for next week's prestigious Tournament of Champions, had a shaky finish to what could have been a really outstanding effort.

He missed the green on the par-three 16th but chipped in from 30 feet—the second time he's done that this week—to go seven under.

He also missed the green on the 17th and had to work hard to save par.

And an errant second shot on the 18th made it three greens in a row he had missed. He chipped poorly and made the bogey that dropped him back to six under.

"That bogey on 18 kind of took the edge off what could have been a real good round," Blancas said.

He played steadily over the first 15 holes, making one bogey from a fairway bunker and notching birdies on all three of the par-five holes.

Beard, who suffered through his poorest season in a decade in 1972, used a refund putting touch to move into second place.

Beard needed only 27 strokes on the greens, one-putted 10 times and had one string of three holes in which he made birdies putts of 30, 40 and 15 feet.

Rudolph is not the only one anxiously awaiting the club's opening. Rudolph, hired John Burkman, a tennis pro from Wichita, Kan., to run the club and Burkman has been in Lincoln since November.

"I'm not discouraged,"

Rudolph said of the delays. "We've lost a season of indoor play. But tennis interest is still high."

Rudolph has solicited more than 200 memberships for the new club already and is shooting for a minimum total of 400. "However, we're not going to push memberships until the facility is completed," he noted.

"As dependable as Nebraska weather is," Rudolph said. "I'm sure we'll have plenty of business."

The cost of the club was originally estimated at $300,000. But Rudolph said the final cost will probably total over $430,000.

The indoor facility will have four air-conditioned courts and Rudolph plans to build two outdoor courts at the site.

While the Lincoln club is nearing completion, tennis promoters are planning to build three more indoor centers in Omaha. The three Omaha clubs, which will have a total of 19 courts, are all aiming for a Sept. 1 opening.

Borgialli Signs Top Prester

Dave Humm won't be the only Las Vegas sports star in the Nebraska spotlight during the next couple of years.

Cornhusker wrestling coach Orval Borgialli announced Friday that Bruce Conger, 6-5, 270-pound heavyweight champion for Nevada and a national standout, has signed a national letter-of-intent with Nebraska.

An undefeated high school wrestler, Conger recently was named "Athlete of the Year" for 1970 by the Southern Nevada Chapter of the Amateur Athletic Union.

Wildcats Trim Tigers Twice

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — Kansas State came from behind in both games to defeat Missouri Friday as the Kansas Jayhawks beat Iowa State 5-0 in a Big Eight baseball game.

A triple by Robert Ohm and Allen Whitfield's single in the first inning opened the scoring and was enough for the victory. Jerry Evans doubled in a run in the sixth, and Kurt Knoff slammed a two-run double in the seventh.

Kansas is 2-4 in the Big Eight and 6-6 over-all. Iowa State is 0-4 and 3-9. The teams will play a doubleheader Saturday. The series was moved from Amex, Iowa, to Lawrence because of the recent snowstorm in Iowa.

Wildcats won the opener when Stu Lindell was hit by a pitched ball to force in the winning run in the eighth inning. They loaded the bases on singles by Curt Shockley and Kim Mosley and a walk to Lon Kruger.

Jim Thomas, pitching in relief of Ben Tensing, hit Lindell, a relief pitcher, to end the game.

Two Tiger errors in the fifth inning helped the Wildcats in the second tilt.

The nightcap was close until the last of the sixth when five straight hits, including successive doubles by Jim Kick and Steve Anson, accounted for three more Kansas State tallies.

First Game Missouri 103 010 000-5 4 4 Tensing, Thomas 181 and Cole, Reigle, Lindell 18; and Wilkinson W-Lindell 1-Tensing.

Second Game Missouri 200 000 0-2 4 2 K-State 001 113 0-0 6 2 Kick and Cole, Kick and Wilkinson W-Kick L-Koenke.

Genetic Counseling Provides Information; Couple Decides

Genetics at the University of Minnesota, spoke Friday at the annual Nebraska Academy of Sciences meeting.

Dr. Reed said that hundreds of years ago, people had no notion of Mendel's laws on genetics.

but they did realize that people evidenced certain characteristics held by blood relatives.

The first scientific genetic counseling started in the early 1900s and now there are approximately 600 counseling centers all over the world.

Dr. Reed said genetic counseling is essentially social work in the field of health sciences. Counselors help people decide on a genetic basis whether or not to have children.

He said the counseling is usually done for free to keep quacks and charlatans from entering the field.

Dr. Reed said the genetic counselor doesn't tell clients which course of action they should take, but only provides them with information to be considered.

If the risk of a serious genetic defect is from 5 to 10%, people will usually assume the risk. Dr. Reed said. But when the chances raise to 20 to 25%, people become quite reluctant and few will assume a risk of 50% or over.

He told the group that drugs probably don't result in much harm to chromosomes, but the theory has been used effectively in scaring people.

Agency Rivalries Hurt Drug Police

Washington (UPI) — Federal narcotics agents fight each other to get credit for a "major bust" with all the zeal they use to hunt down major drug traffickers, one of their former chiefs testified Friday.

John Finlator, former director of the Drug Abuse Control Bureau and deputy director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs (BNDD), said jurisdictional disputes and professional rivalries "have been anathema to good drug law enforcement."

Finlator, endorsing President Nixon's proposal to combine the war against drugs into a single office—the proposed Drug Enforcement Agency—specifically cited battles between the Customs Bureau and BNDD.

"There always have been good and dedicated agents on both sides of the jurisdictional fence, but the pride and reward for getting credit for a major bust has resulted in many of these agents fighting each other for the right to control a major case with all the fierceness and single-mindedness they marshal in taking on major traffickers," Finlator told a government operations subcommittee studying the proposed consolidation.

He added it was a "sad fact" that the agency with the most arrests and most drugs seized does the best when asking Congress for its annual funds.

As a result, "There is a built-in incentive for an agency and its director to focus on the lower level of the heroin traffic where penetration is easier and arrests and seizures are easier to come by," Finlator said.

He added, "The craving for better and better statistics leads to worse and worse enforcement because it means neglect of the highest—and most difficult and important—levels of heroin traffic."

Finlator said there is a similar incentive for the agencies "to fight fiercely for control" of the few major cases that are made.

He added: "It is not hard to see why sharing of intelligence between agencies and voluntary cooperation on cases is the exception rather than the rule. Reorganization is the only solution, and the tragedy is that it has not come sooner."

Junge Details Federal Fund Uses By City

City Council candidate Emmett Junge Friday listed three areas for use of the city's share of the federal revenue sharing funds.

He said consideration should be given to tax relief, filling human needs and capital improvements.

"If the federal government continues to make these monies available, we should develop a plan for their use," Junge said.

He suggested that the funds could be used to continue programs that have lost their federal funding.

Planning how to best use those funds "is a project I will emphasize," he said.

Agency Rivalries Hurt Drug Police

Washington (UPI) — Federal narcotics agents fight each other to get credit for a "major bust" with all the zeal they use to hunt down major drug traffickers, one of their former chiefs testified Friday.

John Finlator, former director of the Drug Abuse Control Bureau and deputy director of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs (BNDD), said jurisdictional disputes and professional rivalries "have been anathema to good drug law enforcement."

Finlator, endorsing President Nixon's proposal to combine the war against drugs into a single office—the proposed Drug Enforcement Agency—specifically cited battles between the Customs Bureau and BNDD.

"There always have been good and dedicated agents on both sides of the jurisdictional fence, but the pride and reward for getting credit for a major bust has resulted in many of these agents fighting each other for the right to control a major case with all the fierceness and single-mindedness they marshal in taking on major traffickers," Finlator told a government operations subcommittee studying the proposed consolidation.

He added it was a "sad fact" that the agency with the most arrests and most drugs seized does the best when asking Congress for its annual funds.

As a result, "There is a built-in incentive for an agency and its director to focus on the lower level of the heroin traffic where penetration is easier and arrests and seizures are easier to come by," Finlator said.

He added, "The craving for better and better statistics leads to worse and worse enforcement because it means neglect of the highest—and most difficult and important—levels of heroin traffic."

Finlator said there is a similar incentive for the agencies "to fight fiercely for control" of the few major cases that are made. He added: "It is not hard to see why sharing of intelligence between agencies and voluntary cooperation on cases is the exception rather than the rule. Reorganization is the only solution, and the tragedy is that it has not come sooner."

Junge Details Federal Fund Uses By City

City Council candidate Emmett Junge Friday listed three areas for use of the city's share of the federal revenue sharing funds.

He said consideration should be given to tax relief, filling human needs and capital improvements.

"If the federal government continues to make these monies available, we should develop a plan for their use," Junge said.

He suggested that the funds could be used to continue programs that have lost their federal funding.

Planning how to best use those funds "is a project I will emphasize," he said.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
